

Raps Proposal To End All U. S. Tax Exemptions

Vermont Senator Sees Step Toward National Socialism

Washington —(P)—Senator Austin (R-Vt.) opened fire today on a proposal to end all tax exemptions on government securities, as a "revolutionary proposal and definite step towards national socialism."

As the senate resumed debate on the intricate excess profits tax bill, Austin, assistant Republican leader, sought to rally bipartisan opposition to the no-tax exemption rider proposed last week by Senator Brown (D-Mich.).

"This thing hits at the very fundamentals of our dual system of federal and state governments," Austin told reporters. "When you touch the purse strings of state and local governments, you have destroyed their powers to tax and to exist."

Not One-Sided

Senator Brown, sponsor of the lengthy amendment, disagreed that vital government relationships were involved. He said that congress already had granted the states the right to impose income taxes on salaries of federal employees and that it had exercised the same right in levying federal taxes on state salaries. Under the amendment state governments could tax federal securities and vice versa.

The general opinion in the senate, however, was that even if the chamber voted to end present tax exemption provisions, house conferees would block action when the bill is sent to a joint committee for adjustment of differences.

The senate worked under a debate limitation agreement in an effort to speed a final vote on the excess profits measure. It limited each senator to a single 30-minute speech on amendments and the bill.

Two other controversial amendments also waited action. One by Senator Connally (D-Texas) would set up a stiff schedule of "war-time" income taxes to be effective when congress declared war. The second by Senator Lee (D-Okl.) proposed a broad system of "drafting wealth" in case of war.

The house, in its third day of recess out of respect to the late Speaker William B. Bankhead, was scheduled to resume sessions tomorrow.

Three Youths Who Fled Prison Camp Get Additional Terms

Juneau —(P)—Three youths who escaped from the Amberg state prison camp in May, 1939, and were recaptured in Salt Lake City were given additional prison sentences in circuit court here.

Clarence Conjurski, 21, Manitowoc, who had completed a term for burglary, was given an extra year in prison. Elmer Richel, 23, Arcadia, serving one to five years for forgery, was sentenced to an additional one to two years. Edward Reagle, 23, Medford, serving one to three years for forgery, was sentenced to one year and seven months more.

The prisoners were placed on probation in the federal court in Milwaukee where they were charged with interstate transportation of a stolen automobile used in their flight.

Believe Nazi Raids Cause Heavy Damage But Fail in Purposes

London —(P)—Military attaches and correspondents who experienced the blizzards of bombs which fell on Warsaw, Barcelona and Madrid expressed belief today that London already has taken more punishment than any other city, even Rotterdam, in the last 11 days of intensive German air attacks.

Despite these attacks, however, the consensus of these experienced observers was that the German Luftwaffe had failed to achieve the two main purposes and that the prospects of invasion were diminishing because of this failure.

The two prime objectives, they gave as (1) disorganization of London's communications so that supplies and reinforcements could not be sent to the areas where invasion is planned and (2) demoralization of the civilian population.

Germans Turned Back During Big Aerial Encounter

Driven Off in Clash East of London; Nazi Bases Attacked

London —(P)—Shipping and military stores concentrated in many German-held ports along the north coast of Europe suffered "much damage" last night as the result of heavy, repeated British bombing attacks, the air ministry announced tonight.

Therbourg, formerly France's great trans-Atlantic port, was heavily attacked, a communiqué said, and two supply ships were sunk and many fires started in the harbor.

German heavy gun emplacements at Cap Gris Nez, just opposite Dover, also were reported bombed.

London —(P)—British fighter pilots and gunners met Germany's aerial armada today in a great battle east of London and were reported to have turned back the full power of one of the greatest assaults thus far pointed at this heart of the British empire.

The British Press association said that the attackers were beaten off in a terrific engagement over the Thames estuary while off-alarmed Londoners sought shelter during the fifth alarm of the day.

Three formations of twin-engine bombers flying at 15,000 feet and escorted by swarms of Messerschmitts—about 300 planes in all—crossed England's first line of defense, the channel cliffs, and drove toward smoking, battered London.

The sky at the channel coast seemed to an Associated Press observer to be full of planes. Exhaust from the high-flying motors traced an eerie, eccentric pattern across the sky.

At one time this witness counted 200 separate wisps of exhaust vapor. The massed raiders roared toward the Thames estuary and London, anti-aircraft shell explosions flowering their way. When they were well inland the British fighters made battle contact.

The roar of machine-guns and aerial cannon echoed from high in the clouds and the formations broke up into a countless series of dog-fights.

Smash Jump-Off Points Britain, in full awareness that eleven consecutive nights and days of such aerial assaults might be a prelude to attempted land invasion, announced new R. A. F. smashes at potential jump-off points on the continent shore.

About the time the British and Germans were tangled in the battle of the Thames estuary the air ministry announced that the A. A. F. medium bombers yesterday afternoon scored direct hits on harbor installations at Ostend and ships at Zeebrugge, both Belgian ports.

One raider attacked four barges off the continental coast and hit two of them, the communiqué said.

Find Girl Died From Effects of Chloroform

Detroit —(P)—A naval court of inquiry has held that 18-year-old Charlotte Cranston died March 30 during an all-night party aboard the U. S. naval training ship Dubuque from the effects of chloroform administered by a companion, John W. Klauauskas, 21, then employed as shipkeeper aboard the craft.

The court's finding was disclosed today for the first time at a hearing before United States District Judge Frank A. Picard at Klauauskas' plea for freedom on a writ of habeas corpus. The report of the naval inquest, dated April 3, was made public by Thomas P. Thornton, assistant United States district attorney.

Judge Picard granted a week's adjournment when Thornton explained that Klauauskas now is being held at the Great Lakes Training station, Great Lakes, Ill., and that jurisdiction in the case may properly belong to the federal court in Chicago.

Roosevelt Expected to Speed Up Action Under U. S. Draft Program

Washington —(P)—Action to clear the way for operation of the nationwide conscription program commanded first attention today as President Roosevelt returned to the capital and congress made ready to resume sessions.

Before the United States can launch the great peacetime undertaking which begins with the registration of 16,500,000 men on Oct. 16, three essential preliminaries required disposition:

1. President Roosevelt must promulgate the regulations governing the administration of the draft machinery, enrollment, classification and selection of trainees, their induction into service and kindred matters.

2. The director of the selective service system must be appointed by Mr. Roosevelt and confirmed by the senate as provided in the conscription law.

3. Congress must take action on the pending $2,000,000 special defense appropriation request, which is to defray the expenses of registration and conscription.

Will Name Director President Roosevelt was expected to order into effect, possibly tomorrow, the first two of six volumes of regulations already prepared to cover all phases of the draft program. These first two sections define the nature and administrative procedure of the national and state organizations which will handle the Oct. 16 registration, and also set forth the rules for enrollment.

Mr. Roosevelt, who has been absent attending the funeral of the late Speaker Bankhead in Alabama, likewise was expected to announce his choice in a few days for the position of draft director.

The house of representatives, in recess for three days because of the death of Speaker Bankhead, already has the conscription financing appropriation on committee calendar, and committee consideration will start tomorrow.

Washington's most-talked-of possibility for the draft director post was Lieutenant-Colonel Lewis B. Hershey, who has been virtually a "career man" in conscription. He is the executive officer of the joint army and navy selective service committee, which has been engaged for 14 years on draft plans, preparations and training.

The draft director will receive $10,000 a year.

English Report Heavy Bombing Of Rome Forces

Italians Trying to Consolidate Present Position in Egypt

Cairo —(P)—Heavy and "successful" bombing of Italian troops at Sidi Barrani, Egypt, was reported today in a British headquarters communiqué.

The Italian invaders, who stormed along the Mediterranean coastline of Egypt's western desert, the communiqué said, were engaged in consolidating their position before the expected advance toward Alexandria, the British naval base.

Where the British would make a stand remained a military secret. British operations thus far, it was said, have been designed to harass rather than halt the two motorized Italian columns leading the eastward drive.

Despite sandstorms and temperatures ranging up to 120, the Italians in four days have advanced from the Libyan border to positions beyond Sidi Barrani, 60 miles inside Egypt, reaching the start of an asphalt road leading 350 miles to the Suez canal, vital link of Britain's empire lifeline.

The farthest point in the Italian advance line at present is believed to be 80 miles within Egypt.

Prepare For Battle As the Italians press eastward, the British are in the position of being able to choose the field for what may be the one decisive battle of the campaign.

The next objective presumably is Matruh, 100 miles further along the coastal road and site of a British air base.

Between Sidi Barrani and Alexandria lie 250 miles of rough ground.

Jones to Take Over Cabinet Post Thursday

Arrangements Made As Officials Return From Bankhead Rites

Aboard President Roosevelt's special train enroute to Washington, D. C., —(P)—Jesse Jones, the Texas banker who joined the Reconstruction Finance corporation under Herbert Hoover and became its chairman during the Roosevelt administration, will succeed Harry L. Hopkins as secretary of commerce tomorrow.

Arrangements to swear in the Texan at the White House were disclosed today aboard the special train returning President Roosevelt and other high officials of his administration to Washington from the funeral of Speaker William B. Bankhead at Jasper, Ala.

Jones will retain his position as federal loan administrator in addition to taking over the commerce secretary's duties. Hopkins, a presidential confidante, resigned recently after prolonged ill health.

Jones accompanied Mr. Roosevelt and six members of his cabinet to Jasper yesterday for Speaker Bankhead's funeral.

Schmiege Beats Dohr By Margin of 10 Votes

Clausen, Finnegan Oppose Sen. LaFollette in November

Heil, Loomis and McGovern to be Rivals in Race for Governorship

Milwaukee —(P)—Fred H. Clausen, Horicon industrialist will carry the Republican standard in November as the candidate of that party to oppose the reelection of United States Senator Robert M. LaFollette, Jr.

Clausen was nominated yesterday in a primary election which showed that the Republicans had made marked new gains in polling power.

Winner of the Democratic senatorial nomination was former Attorney General James E. Finnegan of Milwaukee who was leading the nearest of three opponents by 17,000 votes with only about 200 precincts missing.

Senator LaFollette was re-nominated without opposition.

Clausen topped a field of seven candidates, one of whom, Dr. Glenn Frank, had been killed last Sunday in an automobile accident. For Dr. Frank the turnout of voters in his behalf was a posthumous demonstration of their loyalty. He ranked fourth in the balloting.

Clausen viewed the primary results as the forerunner of "an old time Republican victory" in the November general election.

He said in a statement Wisconsin was awake "to the necessity" of replacing New Deal theories, experiments and spending with a Republican administration "that will do the job handed to it."

"The presence of Democrats and Progressives in our ranks establishes that fact," he declared.

Clausen's nearest rival was Dr. John P. Koehler, former Milwaukee health commissioner, who trailed by 26,000 votes with two-thirds of the precincts in.

Available returns showed other opponents finishing in this order: Dr. Frank, Attorney Michael G. Eberlein, Shawano; Reuben W. Peterson, chairman of the state public service commission, Walter B. Child, Merrill newspaper publisher, and William C. Maas, former secretary to Governor Julius P. Heil.

Finnegan out-distanced William D. Carroll, Prairie du Chien, Democratic state chairman, who was trailing second on the Democratic ticket. Both opposed a third term for President Roosevelt.

Far behind them were James J. Kerwin, Milwaukee and John Cudahy, Milwaukee, United States ambassadors to Belgium. New Deal leaders saw the collapse of their eleventh hour campaign to nominate Cudahy in a drive for "write in" votes.

Rites Today For Dr. Frank

Services Conducted Today for Former U. W. Chief and Son

Madison —(P)—While the state at large expressed its respects posthumously in election returns, friends of the late Dr. Glenn Frank, 53, and his son, Glenn, Jr., 21, gathered here today to pay final tribute to them at funeral services in their Maple Bluff home and the state capitol.

Dr. Frank, former president of the University of Wisconsin, orator, author, and recently chairman of the Republican program committee, was a candidate for the Republican nomination for United States senator and received a large vote in yesterday's primary although it was widely known his first campaign for political office had ended tragically.

He and his son, reporter for a Madison newspaper, were killed Sunday night in an automobile accident near Greenleaf, Wis., while enroute to a political meeting at Green Bay.

Hundreds of messages of condolence from over the nation have since been received by the widow and mother, Mrs. Mary Frank, now the sole survivor of the family which came to Madison in 1925 and whose head presided over the state university for 12 years thereafter.

While flags on all state buildings flew at half staff on orders from Governor Julius P. Heil, administrative offices at the university and in the capitol were closed during the services, held in Maple Bluff at 1:30 p. m. and in the capitol at 2:30 p. m. Burial will be in adjoining graves in Forest Hill cemetery.

Paderewski Tries To Come to U. S.

Lausanne, Switzerland —(P)—Ignace Jan Paderewski, 80-year-old pianist and former premier of Poland, awaited permission today to cross unoccupied France and Spain enroute to the United States, where he said he hoped to spend the rest of his life.

Paderewski's secretary said negotiations for the necessary authorization were still going on.

Johns Wins in Primary Race

Holds Heavy Lead in 8th District; Kresky Favored by 2 Parties

Joshua L. Johns brushed aside all opposition in his quest for re-nomination as the Republican candidate for Eighth district congressman in yesterday's primary.

Eighth district voters, in 265 out of 276 precincts, gave Johns a whopping total of 21,076 with Francis J. Dillett, his closest opponent, getting 7,477. George Millerd polled 3,106 and George Kust, 2,485.

Michael F. Kresky of Green Bay won both the Democratic and Progressive nominations for Eighth district congressman. In the Democratic race, Kresky defeated Charles J. Mulloy and Joseph F. Konop. In the Progressive contest, he won over Walter Melchoir.

Johns was one of four incumbent congressmen opposed for re-nomination in yesterday's primary who held 3 to 1 leads over their respective opponents.

Gradually growing vote margins were being built by Republican incumbents Charles Hawks, Jr., of Horicon in the Second district, Lewis D. Thill, Milwaukee, in the Fifth district and Reid F. Murray of Ogdensburg in the Seventh district.

Murray was running nearly 3 to 1 ahead of Herman Behm of Waupaca, on returns from 213 of 363 precincts.

Frank B. Keefe of Oshkosh, Republican, was among the unopposed congressmen. It appeared his opponent on the Democratic slate would be Jacob A. Fessler of Sheboygan.

The Outagamie county totals on the congressional race were as follows: Republican, Johns, 7,209; Kust, 687; Dillett, 1,920; Millerd, 1,399.

Democratic, Kresky, 764; Konop, 545; Mulloy, 644; Progressive, Kresky, 514; Melchoir, 814.

The totals for the candidates, in 265 out of 276 precincts, in the Eighth district, which includes Brown, Outagamie, Manitowoc, Kewaunee, Door, Oconto, Marinette, Florence and Forest counties, were as follows: Republican, Johns, 21,076; Dillett, 7,477; Kust, 2,485; Millerd, 3,106.

Democratic, Kresky, 7,210; Konop, 5,315; Mulloy, 3,837; Progressive, Kresky, 3,626; Melchoir, 2,937.

Kresky said today that not until after a series of conferences with Democratic and Progressive leaders will it be decided as to which party he will represent in the general election. He said the conference will be held immediately.

Hawks amassed nearly a 4 to 1 edge over Otto F. Goetsch, of Hustisford, with 155 or 285 precincts counted Thill's margin was about 2 to 1.

In the Republican race for the third district seat left vacant by the death of Rep. Harry Griswold, Joseph L. Walsh, of Potosi, led State Senator Edward J. Roethe, of

Injuries Prove Fatal To Flying Instructor

Defense Group Opposed to Proposed Anti-Trust Suits

Washington —(P)—The defense commission was reported today to have criticized a proposed anti-trust suit against the big oil companies on the ground that it threatened delay to the preparedness program by disrupting tentative plans and discouraging cooperation by industry.

The commission has communicated its opinions to Attorney General Jackson after a study of the contemplated civil action against 26 major oil companies and about 300 subsidiaries. Jackson requested the defense group's views July 26 before deciding whether to file the suit.

The legal brief was drafted by the justice department's anti-trust division under the direction of Assistant Attorney General Thurman Arnold. It strikes at alleged price-fixing and seeks to force the major companies to divest themselves of certain types of properties such as pipelines, tankers and marketing facilities. It also would force divestiture of some companies to discontinue production of oil.

The defense abandonment of the suit. It devoted itself largely to the objectives set forth, explaining that the commission's task mere objectives "substantially impeded" was to determine whether those the defense program.

The commission was described as feeling that any necessary steps should be taken to eliminate restraints on competition or to end price fixing, if these existed.

Frank First In Balloting For Sheriff

Swapping the lead time and again, Oscar J. Schmiede and Raymond P. Dohr engaged in the closest county contest in yesterday's primary, Schmiede finally emerging with the Republican nomination for district attorney.

Only 10 votes separated the two men in today's unofficial tabulation, Schmiede being credited with 4,201 and Dohr, the present district attorney, with 4,191.

The contest had an exciting ending. With only one precinct, the town of Cicero, remaining, Schmiede held the lead with 4,173 to Dohr's 4,162. When the town of Cicero reported, it gave Dohr 29 votes and Schmiede 28.

William L. Crow ran in the third position with 1,802. Other standings were Adrian E. Gerrits, 1,292, and William J. Flatley, 802. Abram J. Cohen was unopposed for the Progressive nomination. The vote of 16,000 was, roughly, 7,000 more than in the 1938 election.

Dohr served two terms as district attorney.

The figures on the election are, of course, unofficial. In the relay of the vote by phone and the transposition to the tabulating boards, errors could occur, and the official vote will not be known until the official canvass is complete.

Fred H. Frank, present undersheriff, romped away with the Republican nomination for sheriff, piling up 3,922 votes to 2,892 for his nearest opponent, Joseph W. Versteegen. Chet W. Heinritz had 1,626, Floyd Acheson 1,108, Robert O. Smith 650, William A. Meyer 804, Frederick W. Giese 744, Walter Scherck 430, and George A. Brautgam 273.

John J. Kelly won the Democratic nomination for sheriff, polling 946 votes to 640 for Frank Van Den Hoogen and 612 for Theo. H. Loose. Frank J. Hilgenberg will represent the Progressive party in the race, winning against Fred F. Wankey 741-595.

Treasurer Wins Marie Ziegenhagen, present county treasurer, took the measure of Ray L. Feuerstein in the Republican contest for nomination. The incumbent had 6,602 votes to her opponent's 5,922. John T. Timmers, unopposed on the Democratic ticket, had 1,839, and Warren P. Smith, the only Progressive candidate, received 1,020.

John E. Hantschel, county clerk, unopposed, gathered 11,034 votes. M. H. McDonnell, Progressive candidate, had 1,075.

Dr. H. E. Ellsworth, the present coroner, earned the Republican nomination by polling 7,175 votes to Willard Van Handel's 4,357. Ledgar T. Feavel, the Democratic candidate, had 1,589 and Robert J. Gmeiner, Progressive, 1,063.

Sydney M. Shannon present clerk of circuit court, was unopposed for the Republican nomination. He received 9,876 votes. Simon E. O'Connell, Progressive candidate, was credited with 1,058.

Stephen M. Peeters, register of deeds, had no opposition in his quest for the Republican nomination and received 10,606 votes. John Burke, Progressive, received 1,072. Arthur L. Collar won the Democratic nomination by defeating Wilbert L. Brick, 1,340 to 566.

Robert M. Connelly, present county surveyor, was unopposed as the Democratic candidate. He was given 1,742 votes. Clem Antonetti, Progressive, polled 1,017.

Whatever It Was—The Barths Hope It Doesn't Happen Again

A concrete cistern was demolished and members of a sleeping family were thrown from their beds when what appears to be a weather phenomena struck with an ear-splitting roar at the Lee J. Barth Flour and Feed store at Black Creek during the storm about 4:30 this morning. The atmospheric blow, which rocked the 2-story building, was peculiar in that neighbors in the immediate vicinity did not feel the blast and nobody saw a flash of lightning.

Mr. Barth, who with his wife and four children were jounced from their beds to the floor in an upstairs apartment, said he did not believe there was a lightning bolt because the electrical system in the building was not damaged and there was no evidence of lightning having hit the structure. He theorized that the crushing pressure and deafening claps were the result of some strange atmospheric condition. The blast was heard for miles.

The cistern, 14 feet long, 8 feet wide and 5 1/2 feet high, was filled with water and was a complete wreck. Mr. Barth estimated the damage at about $100. Nobody was injured.

16,000 Vote in County; 12,150 in GOP Primary

Of the approximately 16,000 Outagamie county voters who went to the polls yesterday, 75 per cent, or about 12,150 voted in the Republican primary. The total vote was nearly 7,000 greater than in the 1938 primary when only 9,500 voters went to the polls.

So great was the rush to vote in the Republican primary, in which there were ding-dong battles for county offices, that the Progressive and Democratic primaries were almost deserted. The five candidates for governor on the Progressive ticket polled only 1,283 votes between them, while the four Democratic candidates rolled up 2,484 votes.

The preferences of Outagamie county voters for state officers on all the tickets followed quite closely the pattern set by the rest of the state, but in the Republican contest for United States senator the county majority vote went to Michael G. Eberlein of Shawano, who ran a bad third to Fred H. Clausen over the entire state.

John K. Cudahy did not fare well as a write-in candidate for United States senator on the Democratic ticket, polling only 96 votes in the county's 53 precincts.

Axis to Discuss Destroyer Trade

Positions of Spain And Egypt Also to Be Topic of Parley

BY LOUIS P. LOCHNER
Berlin — (AP) — Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop left for Rome today to confer with Premier Mussolini and Foreign Minister Count Ciano and German sources indicated that the exchange of 50 United States destroyers for air and naval bases on British possessions in the Atlantic probably would be among the subjects discussed.

Von Ribbentrop is expected to reach Rome tomorrow.

Spain and Egypt — both of extreme importance in the present conduct of the war — were expected to be the prime subjects of the conversations.

But one German source indicated that the Rome-Berlin axis powers were concerned over the destroyer transaction.

Spain, it was indicated, wishes to play a more active part in the affairs of the Rome-Berlin axis, but is militarily unable, and economically in a poor way. Yet her geographical position, plus her natural resources, are such that she is a desirable axis partner.

To Clarify Relations
From a usually reliable source it was learned that the Rome conference is likely to result in giving legal expression to Spain's adherence. This may be in the form of a secret treaty, but may also be indicated in a public pronouncement.

Italy's invasion of Egypt is regarded here as a factor of importance in the further conduct of the war. The Suez canal is one of the choicest objectives of Italian participation in the war, and the Ribbentrop visit is likely to clarify to what extent, if any, Germany is to assist in the attempted conquest of Egypt.

It is the traditional axis policy to keep each other posted on all plans and moves," informed German sources said. They added significantly that under the present conditions "new problems are likely to arise every three weeks or so," indicating that more frequent contacts may be found necessary.

The last meeting of the German and Italian foreign ministers was in Vienna last month. They met then to discuss phases of the Rumanian and Hungarian dispute over Transylvania.

Operetta Planned At Shiocton High

Shiocton — Students of Shiocton High school are working on the operetta, "Tulip Time," under the direction of Miss Dorothy Grehn and Miss Mary Agnes Hurd. The cast includes: William Cummings, as Hans; Ruby Last, as Aunt Anna; Marcella Servais, as Katinka; Ruel Falk, as Hendrick Van Ooster; Mary Santkuy, as Christina; Leo Erke, as Theophilus McSpindle; Bernard Heiser, as Ned Baxter; Louis Mielke, as Dick Warren. Mrs. Louis Booth accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Milford Steffen of Hortonville to Waupaca Monday afternoon, where they attended the funeral services of Will Ballard, 76, uncle of the former, which were held that afternoon.

Fred Schroeder returned Monday from a weekend visit at the home of his son, the Rev. R. F. Schroeder, at Austin, Minn. He accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Paul Beyer of Stephentown to that city.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Booth and granddaughter, Petty Felsner, spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Feustel at Green Bay. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Pooler, who spent the day at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Orri Budd.

Cuts of $1,728,000 During Last 2 Years
Madison — Public utility rate reductions for the last two fiscal years totaled $1,728,000, the public service commission reported today.

The rate cuts, which were $853,309 for 1938-39 and $874,822 for 1939-40, affected 440,000 telephone, electric power, gas and water customers.

SENATE NOMINEES—Here are the three men who will oppose each other for election to the United States senate next November. At upper left is the incumbent, Robert M. La Follette, Progressive, who was unopposed in yesterday's primary; at upper right is Fred H. Clausen, Horicon industrialist, who won the Republican nomination in a field of nine candidates; and at lower right is James K. Finnegan, former attorney general for Wisconsin, picked by the Democrats as their nominee.

Invasion Delay Adds To Hitler Difficulties

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE

Herr Hitler hasn't been deprived of his chance at invasion of England this year by the gale which turned the bad-tempered channel into a rolling, pitching harbinger of the permanent bad weather to come, but his delay in striking certainly has maneuvered him into a dangerous position.

Yesterday I expressed my view that this wasn't the autumnal break which marked the end of good weather (as many Britons eagerly hoped) but that more fine days could be expected and that the fuhrer would attempt invasion if he saw an opening.

Later British Premier Churchill emphasized a similar belief in addressing his house of commons.

However, while the nazi chief probably will get further smiling skies, his vital problem now that the fall weather is at hand will be to find enough of them to give him time to push one of the greatest military operations of history to a successful conclusion. It's like this:

No Quick Task
Supposing for the sake of argument that Hitler has been able, in the face of violent resistance, to land a big army on English soil and establish bridge-heads for the clearing of supplies from the continent. That's only a start. You just can't toss an expeditionary force up through the surf onto the shore and then say:

"Well, gesundheit, men. Lots of luck. I'll see you later."

Mountains of supplies—equipment of all sorts, munitions and food—must pour in after these troops in a steady stream. So must reinforcements.

But just as the big army has been got ashore there comes the final break in the weather. The fogs descend—and what fogs that part of the world can produce!—the channel is standing on end as I've seen it do on far too many unhappy occasions.

Willkie Links Defense With U. S. Economy

Record Crowd Hears Republican Nominee At New Mexico Rally

BY THEODORE F. KOOP

Albuquerque, N. M. — (AP) — Wendell L. Willkie, moving his presidential campaign into the deep southwest, linked national defense today with economic improvement as the two principal problems confronting the United States.

Rehabilitation of our domestic economy is the front-line trench of any defense program," the Republican presidential nominee told reporters last night.

He had discussed the same subjects earlier in the evening before an audience estimated by Mayor Clyde Tingley at 21,000 one of the largest crowds ever to attend a political rally in New Mexico.

Standing beneath floodlights in Tingley park, Willkie said:

"Never in the history of the world was there such a great liquid supply of capital as is represented by the savings of the people of this country. Likewise there never was such a requirement in American industry for development and expansion, and never before did we have so many unemployed."

Would Help Jobless
Now if we can bring that great flood of liquid capital into our productive enterprises to fill the requirements for their expansion, there will disappear from the relief rolls those 8,000,000 men now unemployed."

"Defense today consists of mechanized things, all of which are made by production. The reason Germany is stronger than England — if she is, and pray God she is not — is that she was producing."

"If you elect me president of the United States, I shall bring to the government the ablest production men in America, and I will create of them an independent agency to deal with the defense problem ably and adequately."

School Newspaper Has New Type Headlines

Presenting a new streamlined make-up, members of the Talisman staff distributed the first issue of Appleton High school's weekly newspaper Tuesday afternoon during the homeroom period. "Flush" headlines and new type made the issue completely modernized.

Featured stories for the day were the election of the student council officers, vacation news and an editorial in honor of Constitution week. The editorial columns were headed by a greeting from H. H. Heible, principal.

Advisers to the Talisman staff are Miss Ellen Sweet, English instructor, Miss Eleanor Tredinnick, commercial instructor, and Bruno Krueger, head of the commercial department. Norma Crow and Margaret Puth are co-editors. In charge of the desk work are Ruth De Braal and Etta Manning.

Elks Addition Will Be Finished Monday

Completion of two additions to the Elks clubhouse, 129 S. Appleton street is expected by next Monday. The improvements will cost about $12,300.

A new boiler room has been built in the rear and the front addition increases the space for the club's bowling alleys. Two new alleys are being installed to replace two old ones.

Asks Constant Guard Against Nazi Invasion

Churchill Reports 10,000 Casualties Within 15 Days

BY DREW MIDDLETON

London — (AP) — Prime Minister Churchill rallied the besieged British Tuesday to constant vigilance against a German invasion, which he said would come at what Adolf Hitler judges "his best opportunity" in the wake of bombing which killed or wounded 10,000 in the first 15 days of September.

Britain thus has suffered at least 12,000 dead and wounded since the Germans hurled their first huge aerial assault upon London in early August.

But with his solemn report of British dead and wounded, the prime minister offered assurance that Britain had done serious injury to Germany's invasion ships and barges and, meanwhile, "our own strength . . . develops steadily by land by sea, and above all, in the air."

Churchill told the house of commons 2,000 civilians were killed and about 8,000 wounded in the first fortnight of September, during the greatest aerial fighting in history over and around London.

Small Military Casualties
In contrast, Churchill said military casualties during that period amounted to only 250 in all the fighting forces.

On Sept. 5, when German bombers had forced commons to delay its session for 45 minutes, the prime minister put British casualties in August at 1,075 dead and slightly more than that total injured.

Nazi fliers again interrupted Tuesday's sitting of parliament. The members left when an air raid alarm was given, but reconvened before the all clear was sounded. When Churchill finished, secret debate was held.

"Apart from their general barbarity," Churchill said, the bombing attacks on London were supposed to unsettle the public opinion.

Instead, he said, they have united the king and queen and their people "by new and sacred bonds of common danger" and steered "all hearts

O'Connor Fails in Comeback Efforts at Polls in New York

New York — (AP) — The double defeat of former Representative John J. O'Connor of New York in his congressional comeback bid high-spotted yesterday's primary election in that state.

O'Connor, whose defeat for the Democratic re-nomination was successfully advocated by administration forces in 1938, lost out in efforts to win both Republican and Democratic nominations in Manhattan's sixteenth congressional district.

Decisive defeats blasted O'Connor's twin hopes in New York. William T. Pfeiffer worsted him in the Republican primary. In the Democratic contest he lost again to his victorious 1938 opponent, pro-New Deal Representative James F. Fay.

A delay in the count of New York's American Labor ballots stowed up returns on the intra-party strife between the so-called pro-Roosevelt left wing and the anti-third term right wing. The outcome of this battle was watched closely for possible clues to sentiment on the third term, for A. L. P. votes added 275,000 to Mr. Roosevelt's state totals in 1936. Early returns all from New York and vicinity gave a slight lead to the faction supporting Mr. Roosevelt.

Among congressional incumbents to win re-nomination in New York was Representative Hamilton Fish, New Deal foe, who was again the Republican choice in the twenty-sixth district.

The Massachusetts primary's outstanding contest was for the Democratic nomination for governor.

to the stern and unrelenting prosecution of the war with so foul a foe."

Britain can await the decision of the vast air battle with "sober and increasing confidence," he asserted as parliament cheered lustily.

The Royal Air Force, he continued, has done "serious injury" to Germany's plans for invasion by "very heavy and prolonged night bombing" of troops and ship concentrations.

INDIGESTION
Gas trapped in the stomach or bowels may act like a ball-bearing on the heart. At the first sign of distress, smart men and women depend on Bell's Tablets to ease gas free. Legion Post to Lead Recruiting Campaign

The Onev Johnston post of the American Legion will take the leadership in the drive to recruit more men for Company D of the 127th infantry, Wisconsin National Guard, it was announced today.

Company D has been ordered to Camp Beauregard, La., for a year's training along with the other units in the 32nd division, Wisconsin and Michigan National Guard.

The National Guard relations committee of the post met this week and outlined plans for the drive, the feature of which will be a banquet at the legion clubhouse to which military and administrative leaders of the community and state will be invited.

John F. Hintschel has been named chairman of the committee which will assist Captain H. J. Piette, commander of the post, in the recruiting campaign. James H. Balliet is secretary. Other members of the committee are: Paul Wilke, Earl Engel, August A. Arens, and A. H. Bents. Engel is the post commander, Captain Piette and Colonel A. M. Mixson of the regular army will represent the guard unit.

The committee decided to talk with employers in the valley in the interest of enlistments in the national guard. In a statement the committee said that it appreciates the fact that many employers have cooperated with the national guard in the past and this new emergency condition requires cooperation is necessary.

Mass Meeting
The committee will sponsor a mass meeting in honor of Company D at Soldiers Square.

Mayor Cleveland yesterday ordered that College avenue shall be closed early in the morning during the day of instruction. The flag went up today.

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT
BUICK WILL BUILD THEM

YOU'LL like the size of this trim new Buick SPECIAL for '41—its room, its softer ride, its Permi-firm steering, its fresh smart style and all that.

But what you'll go for is what happens under that broad bonnet—the thrill and the thrift you get from that husky, big, 115-hp. Buick FIREBALL® Eight.

For in each flame-packed cylinder of that silk-smooth power plant a flaring ball of fire is set off with each spark-leap.

Packed to higher compression than ever before, fuel gives up more power and more mileage—power when you need it, economy throughout the whole driving range.

Indeed, so great is the power at your command that at 30 you use only one-eighth of the energy at your disposal. All the rest is there waiting for pick-up, hill-climb and sudden getaway.

Even at 50 you use less than one-quarter of your available power, and at 75 still have nearly half "on call" for emergency use.

More than that, to this engine you can likewise add Compound Carburetion—and step up both power output and your mileage. At 30 you'll get nearly one and one-half more miles per gallon, at 50 almost two, and at 70 an extra mile and one-fifth.

But that's just one side of the story—the facts side. Only one thing will give you the stirring feel of Buick's thrill-packed behavior on the road.

That's a demonstration—and it's yours for the asking. When will you be in to ask for it?

Royalton Pair Plans To Build New Home

Stephensville—Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Braun have purchased a lot which formerly belonged to the Kroeger estate in the village. They are planning to build a house in the near future.

Mrs. Arthur Albright of Milwaukee and Mr. and Mrs. August Schneider of Hales Corners visited at the Robert Herbst home Monday. They were accompanied home by Mrs. Helen Sneed, who spent a week visiting at the Herbst home.

Dinner guests at the Henry Breitrack home Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. George Wynboom and son Donald of Little Chute, Chris Schmidt and Miss Mary Schmidt, of Appleton, Mr. and Mrs. Matt Schmidt and the Misses Gertrude and Angela Schmidt.

Dinner guests at the Louis Steidl home Sunday included Mr. and Mrs. Charles Steidl, Joyce and Evelyn Steidl of Appleton, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Steidl of Gillett, and Mrs. Carl Schmall, Plymouth. The latter is spending the week visiting at the Steidl home.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Beyer, accompanied by Fred Schroeder and Mrs. Frank Pleckman of Shiocton, spent the weekend visiting the Rev. Rudolph Schroeder at Austin, Minn.

Mr. and Mrs. George Jolin are having the exterior of their home painted this week. The work is being done by Louis Steidl.

Deadlock Appears in Wausau Plant Strike

Wausau—(P)—With the departure for Washington yesterday of Msgr. Francis J. Haas, labor board conciliator efforts to settle the Marathon Rubber Products company strike appeared deadlocked.

Father Haas declined to comment on negotiations but Walter Graunke, union attorney, said that J. L. Usow, company president, and his attorney left the final meeting after rejecting union proposals.

The plant closed since Aug. 31. has been unable either to fill government orders for raincoats, or to bid on contracts to be let this week.

State Doctors Urge Daylight Saving Time

Milwaukee—(P)—Dr. Ralph P. Sproule, president-elect of the State Medical society of Wisconsin yesterday recommended that the society and other health-minded groups strongly consider the introduction of daylight saving time in Wisconsin next year.

Dr. Sproule said that the northern climate of Wisconsin allowed fewer hours of daylight than other parts of the country and that great benefits to health would result in an additional hour of sunlight.

Defeat Move to Buy Prairie du Chien Span

Prairie du Chien—(P)—A county referendum yesterday defeated by 58 votes the proposal to buy the Prairie du Chien-Marquette bridge from its private owners and transfer it to the city of Prairie du Chien. The vote was 809 to 753.

The city previously had proposed to buy the bridge from the Prairie du Chien-Marquette Bridge company of Pittsburgh, Pa. in order to lower tolls but the city council in the fall of 1939 ruled the asking price of the bridge was "too high."

The Record of New Deal No. 1
In World War No. 1

The easiest part of preparedness is the appropriation of the billions.
Indeed, 99 per cent of preparedness, and each per cent a hundred times more difficult than the passage of the appropriation, must now be undertaken.
We had a senate investigation in 1912 concerning the manner in which New Deal No. 1, which was in charge of our efforts in World War No. 1, had carried on. The New York Herald-Tribune dug up the records of that investigation and suggests that the present administration familiarize itself with them. Senator Chamberlain, a strong supporter of New Deal No. 1, admitted before the committee that "the military establishment of the United States has fallen down because of inefficiency in every bureau and in every department of the United States." The record of accomplishment was so wretched that the senator belabored his own party and his own administration for its sheer incompetence.

It should be interesting for those who think we are already prepared because we passed some appropriations with loud cheers to wade through the deplorable record New Deal No. 1 made 23 years ago. Here, in brief, is that record:

(1) About 4 billions were spent in the first 14 months of the war in building 20,000 cannon with the purpose of equipping them with munitions. General Pershing's report shows, however, that less than one per cent of these cannon ever got to Europe and only a few hundred shells reached the front in time for actual use.

(2) Orders were placed for 20 million American made hand grenades. They were so complicated that Pershing discarded them and bought hand grenades from the English.

(3) We spent over a billion dollars for aviation and yet not a single American fighting plane ever got to the front. Some observation planes did arrive. They were immediately dubbed "flaming coffins" because of their faulty construction.

(4) We spent 116 millions to produce gas for chemical warfare but our troops never fired a single American made gas shell.

(5) We constructed ten picric acid and phenol plants but their output was never used.

(6) We built nitrate and powder plants in West Virginia, Tennessee, Alabama, Ohio and Maryland costing 276 millions and, altogether, they produced not a single ounce of anything for the war. These plants were all afterwards sold for salvage value and represent blunders of criminal proportions.

(7) Our high command planned on only 85,000 horses because motorized equipment was considered better. Yet for these 86,000 horses there was actually purchased 50,000 sets of double harness, 110,000 sets of single harness, 945,000 saddles, 2,800,000 halters, 1,500,000 horse brushes, 2,000,000 feed bags, 1,000,000 horse covers and 195,000 copper branding irons. The horses couldn't even begin to carry the equipment purchased for them.

(8) We spent nearly a billion and a half building cantonments on the vicious cost-plus plan. We might have saved as much as half a billion had we not so opened the treasury doors.

(9) While one department was spending 50 millions getting out spruce for airplanes another department was making independent purchases for the same purpose so that about 92 per cent of the spruce first mentioned went unused.

(10) Railroads were actually built to carry spruce lumber out of the woods. This item was a mere 14 millions. The railroads were never used.

The foregoing is a resume of our wartime efforts under inefficient, incompetent men. The wastage of huge sums of money was secondary to what might have happened to us had not our Allies provided us with artillery, airplanes, tanks, machine guns, trench mortars and other supplies.

Politics was in the saddle. Politics made millions.

The right kind of men, the right kind of planning and the right kind of execution spell the difference between safety and possible disaster. Politics in the purchase orders, politics in the location of quarte plants, politics in the buying of equipment that simply could not be used,—politics as such will defeat almost any army, however brave or determined.

Our Economic Paralysis

Our banks are literally loaded with cash and we all appreciate that if that money could be put to work at safe and constructive enterprise we would not need war orders to keep smoke in the air.

The Brookings Institute, a painstaking and non-partisan establishment, has recently released a report of a two-year investigation of the various reasons responsible for the frog pond stagnation which is America.

The Institute says its investigation has made it entirely hostile to the idea that private enterprise needs aid, push or stimulation from the public exchequer. It declares that the reasonable probabilities of future development of private enterprise are more than sufficient to sop up all the nation's idle capital and all its labor resources.

But, of course, it names conditions, and these conditions are anathema to our rulers.

The Institute says that the free flow of capital has been dammed up by certain obstructions and it intimates that when a great number of people believe that their rulers are really irrational, a very serious situation has arisen for the public welfare.

The Institute points to the increase in population in the last ten years, insists there will be continued increases for the next 40 years, lists the demands for a constantly rising standard of living and details the necessity of the expenditure of billions for plants and equipment, housing facilities and numerous other requirements.

The government is responsible for some of the obstructions, the most serious ones that prevent a return to normalcy. First, there is a taxation policy which is so unjust it drives more people of the investor type every day into municipal securities. Next, regulation of everything has become so intricate, confusing and really impossible of understanding that capital floatations require serious expenditures and the extent to which a company may be permitted by the numerous little tyrants who lord over it at Washington makes the skies too dark and gloomy for any but the hardest souls to venture out.

The people of this country are shielded from becoming acquainted with all the facts. They do not know, for instance, that since Mr. Roosevelt has been in office we have actually secured rules and regulations covering 17,000 printed pages that no single person, we dare say, has ever read but in which may be found enough power and authority in various corporals and sergeants in the Praetorian army to hamstring any company or any industry against whom they take a dislike. Those 17,000 pages of rules and regulations fill a small library of about 35 volumes and they aren't even well enough indexed so anyone can find what he wants to locate.

The more the Brookings Institute viewed the scene of clutter and disaster the more it must have marvelled at the patience of the American business man and at his ingenuity and resourcefulness to stand up under this smothering load.

Tennyson's Vision

It is about a century since Tennyson wrote Locksley Hall. Nor does it follow that the dream of a poet is to be looked upon as approaching accuracy.

Yet the first part of the vision seemed as far away then as the second part which will stimulate the hope in men that the second part may come out as truly as the first. Tennyson wrote:

"For I dilt into the future far as human eye could see,
Saw the Vision of the world and all the wonder that would be;
Saw the heavens fill with commerce, argosies of magic sails,
Pilots of the purple twilight, dropping down with costly bales;
Heard the heavens fill with shouting, and there rained a ghastly dew
From the nation's airy navies grappling in the central blue;
Far along the world-wide whisper of the south wind rushing warm,
With the standards of the people plunging through the thunder-storm;
Till the war-drum throbbd no longer, and the battle flags were furled
In the Parliament of man, the Federation of the world."

A Verse for Today

By Anne Campbell

THE HERMIT'S HUT

Built of the truest friends he has, the trees,
The hermit's hut crouches beside the trail,
Visited by the orioles and bees,
Making a comradeship of the lowly snail,
He lives untroubled by one human aim,
And greets each dark or sunny day the same.

The children laugh when sometimes he appears
Mistakenly upon their picnic green.
They cannot read behind his lonely years,
They cannot know what his lost youth has been.
What drove him to his forest dwelling place,
They do not dream, who mock his weathered face.

If life has driven him to seek for friend
The cheerful squirrel, the chipmunk frisking near,
If he can be content at the trail's end,
And hold in comradeship each bounding deer,
He does no harm. Salute him in the wood,
But leave him to his blessed solitude.

BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN
Washington—Most tragic development in London, according to intelligence cables, is damage to the sewers and water supply.

In a city as densely populated as London this can be more devastating than the bombs themselves. There are already reports of some typhoid, though how much is not known.

Also the production of airplanes seems to have been pretty well disrupted. This is serious, because Hitler probably is not going to start the actual transportation of troops to England until the Royal Air Force is put out of commission. It is important to remember that Hitler had complete mastery of the air when he conquered France.

Note—The president recently received a cable from Ambassador Joe Kennedy, containing these cryptic words: "We're catching hell over here, Joe."

SMOKELESS POWDER SHORTAGE

Destruction of the Kenil, New Jersey, powder plant was a far more serious blow to national defense than anyone in high official circles wanted to admit.

It now leaves the United States with only two smokeless powder plants in the entire country—the duPont plant at Carney's Point, N. J., and the government-owned Picatinny Arsenal at Dover, N. J., not far from Kenil. It produces only a very small amount of powder.

Real fact is that powder plants are slow and cumbersome to build, requiring a series of buildings in which the powder is gradually dried. Two new plants are being rushed to completion by the war department, but they will not be finished until next spring.

One of these is near Charlestown, Ind., and will be operated by the duPonts, though built by the government at a cost of $25,000,000. The other will be at Radford, Va., and will be operated by the Hercules Powder company, though built by the government at the same price.

How serious is the powder situation was illustrated by the fact that one day after the New Jersey explosion, the war department issued "speed-up" letters to both duPont and Hercules, whereby they are ordered to increase powder production from 200,000 pounds a day to 300,000 pounds a day in the Radford plant; and from 200,000 a day to 400,000 a day in the Charlestown, Ind., plant. This means that the plants will be bigger, but it does not mean they will be finished earlier.

Day after the New Jersey explosion, also, the war department sent a confidential memo to the White House on the seriousness of the powder situation.

Note—German intelligence agents unquestionably knew the exact capacity of American powder factories, and how limited our present production was—namely, 20,000,000 pounds a year. They must have known also that the destruction of one factory would throw the United States off its preparedness schedule more than any other single incident.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

The state department is still trying to keep the muzzle on Mrs. "Daisy" Harriman, forthright minister to Norway. Apparently Mr. Hull's tears she will tell what really happened there. . . . Copies of the New Republic's special edition on Wendell Willkie can be bought in Chicago and some other cities. Willkie boosters are reported to have brought them up. . . . Nelson Rockefeller, young, naive member of the National Defense commission for Latin American affairs, is making molasses-like progress, is pretty green on Latin America. . . . It's a dizzy world in the capital. While Wayne Parrish, ardent Willkieite editor of American Aviation, is daily sizzling the administration and the Civil Aeronautics authority, his blonde wife, Frances Knight, lands herself a $5,000 a year publicity job in the consumer's division of the defense commission. Several years ago both Parrish and his wife were WPA workers.

NO EXCESS PROFITS

Not since the days of the Hoover administration has there been such a concerted and successful tax lobby as that which has swarmed the halls of congress in an effort to emasculate the alleged excess profits bill.

Result is that the new tax bill is not an excess profits bill at all. At least two-thirds of it is an increase on corporation taxes, which doesn't even begin to take away big business profits on national defense orders. As a matter of fact, this tax makes it harder for the smaller firms to compete with the big ones.

Furthermore, the new tax bill will raise only a drop in the revenue bucket compared with what was expected of it. With some six billions of national defense voted at this session of congress, the new defense bill will be lucky if it nets one-third of a billion dollars.

TOBACCO LOBBYIST

Most potent personage—behind the scenes—in shaping the new tax bill was Clay Williams, able and amiable head of the Reynolds Tobacco company. Williams' influence results from his friendship with Representative "Muley" Bob Doughton, chairman of the house ways and means committee, who lives just one county away from Clay Williams in North Carolina.

It is Doughton's job, as chairman of the ways and means committee, to write the first draft of a tax bill, and in previous years he has backed up the treasury's recommendations almost 100 per cent.

This year, however, Clay Williams, who is also a pillar of the United States Chamber of Commerce and the National Association of Manufacturers, came to Washington in the middle of the summer to camp beside his neighbor from North Carolina while the tax bill was being written.

So Bob Doughton this year wasn't quite what he used to be.

SENATE STRIPPING

Despite this, the tax bill as it came out of the house was a far more nearly genuine excess profits bill than when it came out of the finance committee of the senate. There, Pat Harrison and other elder statesmen stripped it of almost everything the treasury wanted, thereby causing Assistant Secretary of the Treasury John Sullivan to ask for the privilege of being heard by the committee. Harrison agreed—but wished he hadn't, for Sullivan gave the elder statesman a dressing down such as is seldom heard on Capitol Hill.

"This bill is a complete misnomer," Sullivan told the committee, among other things. "It is supposed to be an excess profits bill, but I find that less than one-third will come from war profits. This bill doesn't tax war profits, and I want the record to show that I don't want any part of it."

Afterward, the irate Pat Harrison sent for Sullivan's boss, Henry Morgenthau, and demanded if he knew about Sullivan's statement. Morgenthau replied that he did and had approved it.

A Bystander
In Washington

Editor's Note—While Jack Stinson, who writes the "Bystander in Washington," is on vacation, the space usually devoted to his column has been made available to the major political parties for a pro-and-con presentation of an agreed list of political subjects.

This is the Republican view of "The New Deal." The Democratic view will be presented tomorrow.

BY EDWARD E. BURKE
Democrat, United States Senator
From Nebraska

Washington—All other issues give way before a determined effort to break down the traditional limitation on the presidential tenure of office.

Today the reasons for preserving that limitation are far more compelling than ever before. Americans must rise in November and justify the faith of Thomas Jefferson, who declared:

"Should a President consent to be a candidate for a third election, I trust he would be rejected on this demonstration of ambitious views."

If this be a matter so important, it may be asked why it was not written into the Constitution, or added by amendment. There were those who saw that it should be done. The majority felt that the danger could be averted by a wise distribution of powers and an indirect method of election.

Thereafter, the example set by Washington, followed by Jefferson, Madison and Monroe, who thought to have forever determined that no President should be more than once re-elected. In the year of Jackson's first inauguration it was declared on the floor of the house by a member who later was elected President that an explicit amendment was unnecessary because:

"This principle is now as sacred as if it were written in the Constitution."

Although many attempts at amendment have since been made, they have failed because public sentiment considered the unwritten law sufficiently binding. It remains for the electorate this year to so thoroughly repudiate a candidate who acclaims himself the only one fitted to fill that high office that never again will any individual yield to such delusions of grandeur.

Those who think clearly have long recognized that the greater the power attached to any office, the greater the danger of continuing it long in the same hands. Jefferson so believed. That truth was asserted over and over by Andrew Jackson.

Another great Democrat, Grover Cleveland, said:

"When we consider the patronage of this great office, the allurements of power, the temptation to retain public office once again, and more than all the availability a party finds in an incumbent when a horde of officeholders, with a zeal born of benefits received and fostered by the hope of favors yet to come, stand ready to aid with money and trained political assistance, we recognize in the eligibility of the President for re-election the most serious danger to that calm, deliberate and intelligent action which must characterize a government by the people."

The vastly increased powers of the President are the impelling reason why we must not permit this provision of our unwritten constitution to be repudiated. Our chief executive is today an all-powerful figure. Under his direction, reaching out into the smallest and most remote precinct, there moves an army of civil servants swollen beyond the million mark and increasing daily.

He disbursts with a free hand each year uncounted billions. His authority over the daily lives and activities of our people has passed beyond all established bounds. The requirements of national defense will place at his disposal as commander-in-chief an army, a navy and an air-force more powerful than any the world has seen.

Of him it may well be said: "Why, man, he doth bestride the narrow world like a colossus." To permit such a colossus to perpetuate himself in office would be, as both houses of Congress have declared, "unwise, unpatriotic, and fraught with peril to our free institutions."

Awake Americans! The spirits of departed patriots cry out to you—"be on your guard." Let there be no further usurpation of power. Answer with your ballots that you want no third term President.

Looking Backward

25 YEARS AGO

Wednesday, Sept. 22, 1915
General mobilization of all military forces in Bulgaria for the purpose of armed neutrality had been ordered by the Bulgarian government. Official reports from Austrian and German headquarters showed that the long expected Teutonic campaign against Serbia had begun.

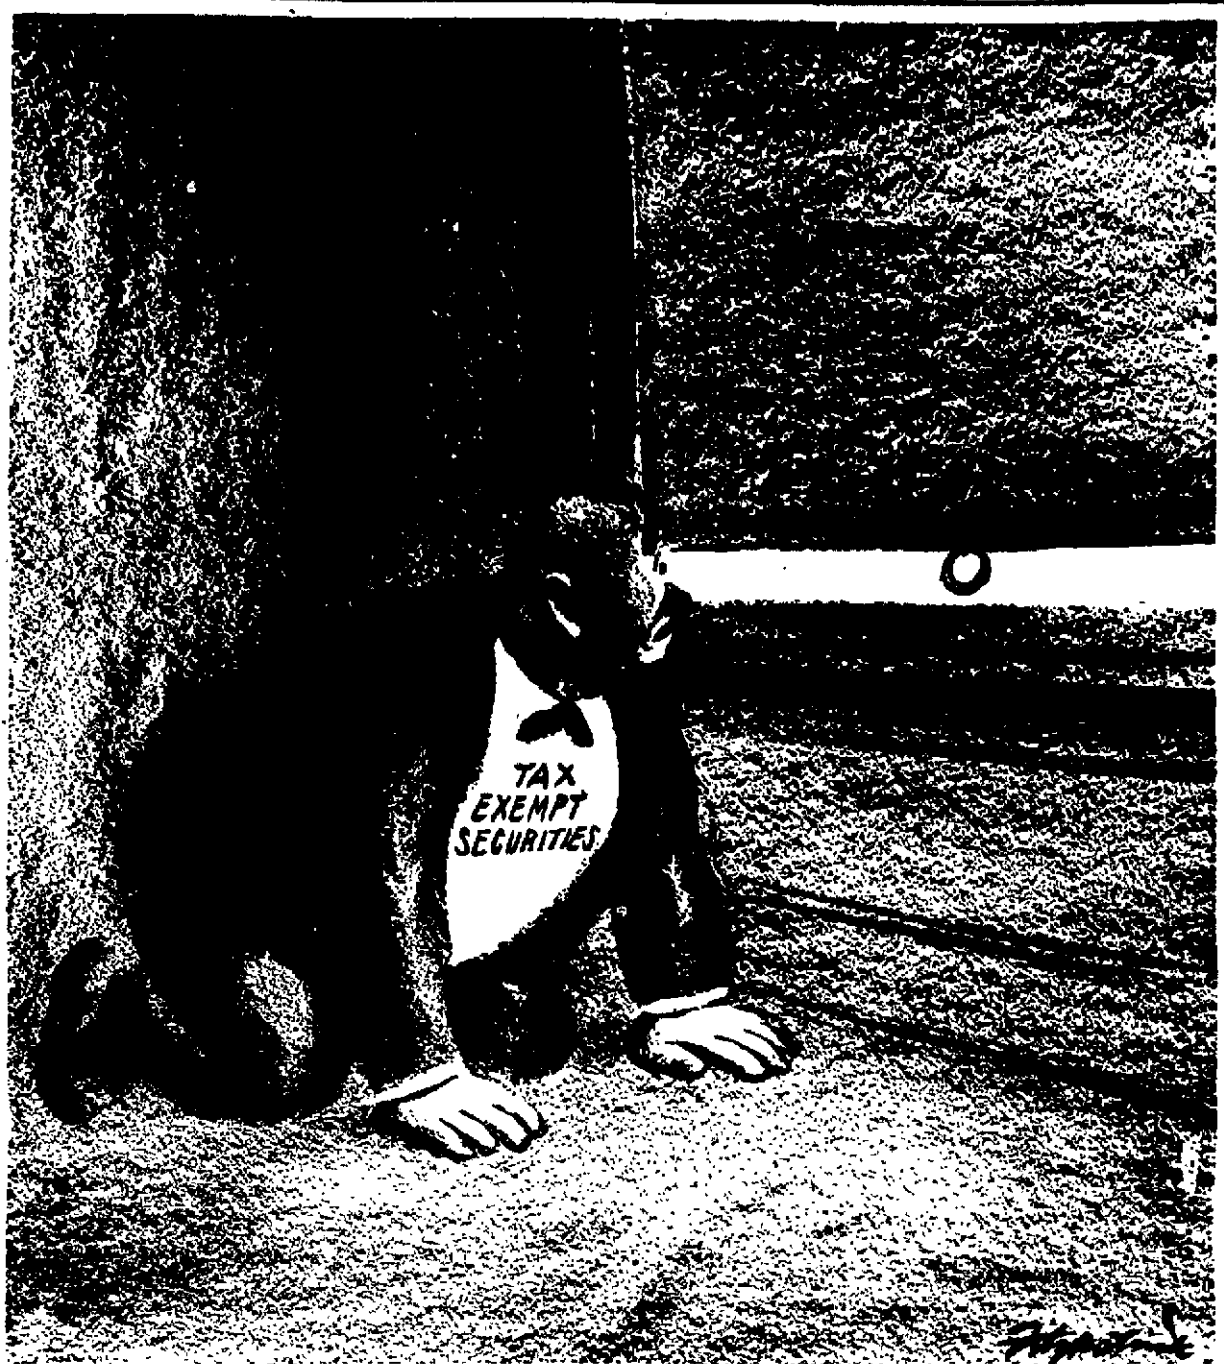

All the militia forces of Appleton were to combine for an exhibition at the baseball park Sunday, Oct. 2. Greenville had joined the ranks of the good roads movement, according to Edward Werner of that town, who was then getting signers to secure the state aid necessary.

10 YEARS AGO

Wednesday, Sept. 17, 1930
Philip F. LaFollette, colorful second son of the late Robert M. LaFollette, Sr., was nominated governor by a landslide vote in the previous day's primary election. The nomination was tantamount to election of Governor Walter J. Kohler trailed by more than 107,000 votes.

Carried on the crest of a tidal wave of 7,117 votes, Sheriff John Lappen the previous day was given the Republican nomination for sheriff which was the equivalent of election. Stanley A. Staid won the Republican nomination for district attorney by the narrow margin of 121 votes over Alfred Bradford.

Personal Health Talks

CAPITOL DOME

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison—How the traditional use of oratory, personality and the old-fashioned opera house political speech are being abandoned for 20th century methods of campaigning is illustrated by the stunts which will be employed in the general election campaign by two of the major political parties of Wisconsin.

Wyngaard The Republican party of Wisconsin recently distributed to the press an announcement of the Willie-McNary moving picture trailer which will travel the highways and byways of Wisconsin this year to lure the voters of Wisconsin to the Republican column.

A long, sleek vehicle, painted white and carrying a crew of several men, it will be the means for showing free motion pictures in the rural sections of the state where all parties must look for the balance of power this year.

PROGRESSIVES TOO

Progressives, however, who have always depended upon the stump and the speech to a greater extent than their rivals, will not be outdone by the G.O.P. in modernization. They are now putting the finishing touches on a program which will shatter precedent for them too.

Madison headquarters of the party has arranged to distribute gramophones to each local party unit, and will supply electrical recordings dramatizing the careers of the party leaders, giving the Progressive Interpretation of the state issues in the 1940 elections, and hitting hard at Governor Heil and his Republican administration.

The records will be played in town halls, rural schoolhouses, and on street corners, according to plans, and will match the Republican efforts with the movie projector.

NEW PRESS AGENT

With campaign contributions rolling in at a rate not experienced in years, state Republican leaders are enlarging their capital headquarters accordingly. Besides adding new members to the headquarters staff, and doling out campaign funds to local organizations in crucial spots, Dr. Gullickson has expanded his office to embrace one whole wing on the mezzanine of the capital city's biggest hotel.

One of the newest personnel additions is James Maxwell Murphy, who was hired recently to do the Wisconsin Republicans' press-agenting this year. A lawyer and former Milwaukee newspaper executive, Murphy a few months ago was connected with the McNutt campaign headquarters in Milwaukee.

POT-POURRI

Watch for a highly interesting announcement from the banking commission shortly on a hearing relating to finance company charges.

Phil LaFollette, carrying his NFA message to the East, cast an absentee ballot for the primary election. . . . J. K. Kyle, Progressive state chairman, may find opposition for reelection at the party platform convention, according to party reports. . . . Democratic New Dealers have not yet hit upon a man to take their chairmanship this fall, but they are agreed that William D. Carroll, chairman since the 1938 platform convention, will go. . . . A good bet is Tom King, Oconomowoc, chosen to handle this year's primary campaign when Democratic big-wigs accused Carroll of inactivity. . . . Dr. F. L. Gullickson of the Republicans is almost certain to keep his statutory chairmanship. . . . No other Re-

BUST DEVELOPER

It should interest young women, particularly that, so far as present knowledge goes, no remedy, food, appliance, ointment or other outwardly applied agent will either reduce or increase local development or bring about any appreciable change in the size of the breasts or any other part of the body.

Massage, with or without electricity, heat, light or other hocus-nocus, has no effect on the size of the breast. The explanation offered by Glorio Glib the Beauty Expert, that the high frequency current and the skillful massage breaks down the fat cells so the fat can be pushed around somewhere else or rubbed away altogether is calculated to satisfy the mind of Dumb Dora only. The only drawback about it is that there are no fat cells. Fat is always in or between the normal tissue cells, whether it be the natural fat padding under the skin or superfluous deposit of fat; and, like fat in any other part of the body, it can be removed only by diet and exercise, regardless of what local treatment you choose to receive.

Neither general exercise nor special exercises can develop the bust. Whatever improvement in appearance exercise may bring—and a reasonable schedule of daily setting-up exercises to supplement walking and such active games or play as a young woman may be able to enjoy, usually does improve personal appearance—is due to improved posture, carriage, tone or resilience, features which make the difference between a slouch and an attractive figure.

Brassieres or other supports inevitably tend to make the breasts flabby. As for "molding" the figure by such garments or harness, that is an absurd notion which passed with the wasp-waist corset. It is all right to resort to any artificial brassieres, pads, artificial eyelashes, freak make-up if you are confident the fakery will make you more attractive or help you find happiness, but the less you rely on such tricks in private the better for your personal appearance and your health.

Recently a number of physicians have reported from various places at various times that active growth of the breasts may be produced by injecting 150,000 to 350,000 international units of estrone or of estradiol benzoate weekly, and some of these physicians assert positively that even the external application of the same estrogen in ointment to the skin. This method of treatment is unavailable to any other than a physician, and it is likely to be of value only in cases where the non-development of the breasts is associated with other signs or symptoms of functional inadequacy or deficiency in the endocrine or ductless gland system.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Another Remedy for Foot Itch

Cultured woman with responsible government position had ringworm, athlete's foot, foot itch, or whatever you call it, between toes and on her hands as well. She placed pledgets of cotton soaked with lemon juice between toes, and this brought prompt relief and cure. (K. H.)

Answer—Anyway it can do no harm. The list of remedies favorably reported by our readers is a long one. Monograph on foot itch available on request if you inclose stamped envelope bearing your address.

The Powerful Onion

I was once told by an old German druggist, that onion juice was the best antiseptic, and I have read that Alexander the Great made his soldiers eat an onion a day. (R. H.)

Answer—Cabbage juice or potato juice or any other vegetable juice is as good an antiseptic. The myths about the remedial value of onion, garlic, lettuce are harmless if you do not take them seriously. Still an onion, an apple or apricot or an oyster a day is wholesome food if you like it.

Styes

Please give a good home remedy for styes (Mrs. C. S. G.)

Answer—Apply many folds of gauze (washed cheesecloth) kept wet with solution of teaspoonful of boric acid in pint of hot water.

Don't

Please give your best advice for one who would like to lose about twenty pounds very quickly. (M. C.)

Answer—Don't try it. Unwise to reduce faster than two or three pounds a week, better a pound a week. Instructions in 60-page "Rules for Reducing"—for which send twenty-five cents coin and stamped envelope bearing your address.

Health Monographs

I have had half a dozen of your practical pamphlets or folders dealing with everyday health problems, and they have been invaluable in our family. Won't you please list all you send to readers—I am sure it will be appreciated by thousands. (Mrs. C. W. H.)

Answer—From time to time, as space permits. Here are a few now available:

- Muscular Rheumatism
- Insomnia
- Boils
- Ichthyosis (fishskin)
- Psoriasis (silvery scale disease)
- Croup
- Syphilis
- Shingles (Herpes zoster)
- Household Sanitation
- Corrective Protective Diet
- Hives
- Pruritus (itching without evident skin rash)
- Somnambulism
- Belly Breathing
- Chorea (St. Vitus's Dance)
- Whooping Cough

For any one, send stamped envelope bearing your address. If you ask for more than one, inclose ten cents for each three.

Teeth and Bones Are Alive

From your articles I gather that there is some difference of opinion between dentists and physicians in regard to the possibility of change in the teeth from absorption of or new deposits of calcium after the teeth have reached complete development. (E. P., D.D.S.)

Answer—The difference of opinion is rather between old timers and dentists or physicians with greater knowledge of physiology and pathology. If you will provide a stamped envelope bearing your address, Doctor, I'll be happy to send you No. 1 Little Lesson in the Ways of Health "SAVE YOUR TEETH," which gives the consensus of modern opinion. I believe. Laymen who want the booklet should inclose twenty-five cents.

Beauty and You

METICULOUS GROOMING—Always imagine that a candid camera is about to take your picture. That will inspire you to meticulous grooming. This beauty has just evenly outlined her lips with that new deep lipstick shade beloved by chic women. It has the richness of a deeply colored tulip.

If your eyebrows invariably bleach in the sun try smoothing them down with white vaseline before you go to play out of doors winter or summer. The vaseline prevents them from bleaching just as oil prevents your skin from burning. They look sleek to boot!

Does your skin need reconditioning? Write Miss Lindsay (care of this paper) your skin problem and she will advise you what to do. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped (3-cent) envelope.

Astringent Bleach
Here is an astringent wash which corrects coarse pores, remedies oily skin and bleaches discolored skin. Apply with a sponge each night and morning on face and any part of the body. Cucumber juice one and one-half ounce, cologne one ounce and elderflower water five ounces. Put the Tincture of Benzoin in an eight ounce bottle, add the other ingredients previously mixed and shake well.

Naturally Curly Hair
If your hair is naturally curly dress it simply—don't strive for an elaborate coiffure. The beauty of your hair polished to a sheen through careful grooming is sufficient. Keep your complexion youthful and glow and free of all blemishes and wear make-up to flatter your natural coloring.

Your Hands
No woman looks perfectly groomed if her hands are neglected. The skin should be soft and free of stains. The nails should be free of old polish and the polish unchipped. With a little practice you can learn to change your polish in a jiffy. Fresh polish, evenly applied gives your hands a well-earned for look. It is important to use the "base" liquid of the same brand as your lacquer polish.

Show a Metaphysical Face!
To look as fresh as a daisy and perfectly groomed, observe these rules of make-up: Keep your eyebrows trim by plucking the stragglers; touch the faded ends of your lashes with a little darkening; use a foundation cream or lotion to keep your make-up intact; match your powder to your current skin tone; wear no rouge during the daytime or just a spec artfully blended with your foundation cream; keep your lip outline even. Smear lips ruin the beauty of many faces. See that your neck is powdered too. Keep your hair tidy.

Have a Dressing Table
With all your beauty aids assembled at your dressing table, grooming is very much simplified. You can make your own dressing table

Not Always Best to Hold Up Top Cards

BY ELY CULBERTSON

Experts laugh up their sleeves at beginners for cashing aces and kings at their first opportunity, but I recently watched a hand in which the laugh was on the other side. A contract that should have been defeated four tricks, doubled, went down only two when the "expert" defender coyly held up his ace of trumps.

East, dealer.

Both sides vulnerable.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
Pass	Pass	1 club	Pass
1 heart	1 spade	Pass	Pass
2 clubs	2 spades	Pass	Pass
Double	Pass	Pass	Pass

East's bidding was as good as South's was bad. The one spade overall was dangerous enough without the further neck stretching involved in his rebid. East, knowing that he was opposed by an overbidder in the South position, deliberately underbid in calling only two clubs on the second round, and his strategy should have been well rewarded when South fell for the bait. West, having opened a weak hand, acted correctly in passing thereafter, and East's double of two spades, considering that he had only the jack and deuce of trumps was a tribute to his imagination.

West opened the club king, and when East signaled with the deuce, shifted to the eight of hearts. Dummy ducked and East's ten went to South's ace. The singleton diamond was led; West split his honors and dummy's king went to the ace. East correctly shifted to the deuce of spades; declarer played the queen, and now West made the horrible mistake of allowing the queen to hold. Certainly it should have taken no imagination on his part to realize that his partner (East) would not have doubled two spades with the singleton deuce. On the other hand, South's rebid definitely marked him with five spades and, therefore, East could have only one more. Whatever that one was, no loss could result from winning the spade trick and returning the ten spot.

When the spade queen held the trick declarer returned a low club; West played the eight, and East had to overtake with the nine. East properly led his jack of spades, but this time declarer ducked, and West could not overtake without losing a trump trick. As the one hope of putting West on lead to draw dummy's remaining trump, East shrewdly underled his diamond queen. But this was futile. Declarer ruffed and then ruffed a club in dummy. A diamond ruff followed, and now declarer led his last club.

West could have made partial amends at this point by ruffing in with the ace of spades, but thoroughly demoralized, he discarded, and poor East, in with the club queen, was "stuck," had to lay down the king of hearts and give declarer the heart queen.

A penalty of 700 points had been transformed to one of 300 by West's miserable defense.

To bleach white goods that have become yellow, dip them in strong blue water after washing, let them become very blue, and then hang out to dry. They will be thoroughly bleached.

since the reception is going to be for just the two families. She is generous to the point of thinking that it would be all right to invite me to the church. John and I think she is hiding behind etiquette because she doesn't like me very much.

Answer: His sister is probably right. Under the circumstances, your presence at the reception would be almost the same as announcing your engagement.

Man and Girl

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you give your approval to the plan of a young woman just over twenty-one going to visit a young man in another town and state, and staying in the same rooming house? He has written that his landlady will act as chaperon, and that she is a person of unquestionable character and well thought of by every one.

Answer: "Taking it for granted that she is a person of unquestionable character, and that she will really assume the position of chaperon, it would be quite all right.

Case Records of a Psychologist

By Dr. George W. Crane

Psychologist, Northwestern University

The time will inevitably come when physicians and lawyers, psychologists and dentists will not be able to get you out of the jam you'll be in. Then you'll probably want to seek divine aid. But do you have any "asking favor" by which you have a right to implore such help? If not, you better start laying up some collateral in the Bank of Heaven so you can get a loan in an emergency on your signature alone, without trying to sponge on the devoutness of your mothers or good wives.

CASE R-175: Tony A., aged 37, is a wealthy gangster. "Call a priest! Call a priest!" he shouted when told that he had cancer of the lung. "God have mercy on me," he pleaded in terror at the thought of approaching death.

Then he prayed and pleaded, whined and begged that his life might be spared. "Oh, Doctor, please do something to make me get well," and he seized my hand in a frenzy of fear.

DIAGNOSIS: As a physician, I have had occasion to see many people die. As a psychologist, I have been very much interested in observing how they face this great event.

Tony had spent his life violating the laws of the United States as well as the laws of God. He was a thug and probably a killer in the gangster era of bootlegging.

Now that he had suddenly been confronted with death, he squealed like a stuck hog. He wanted to do a dramatic right-about-face and invoke divine aid to cure his fatal malady.

I have never liked this craven type of last minute repentance. If you think you ever going to need the help of God, then you better start building up some "asking favor" with Him so you have a little purchasing power with the Almighty.

Cheapskates and Cowards
Although God is pictured as long suffering and willing to accept deathbed repentances, I never personally had much respect for these cheapskate tactics on the part of cowardly human beings.

Many people seem to think they

Comfortable Home Sure To Make Husband Happy

BY DOROTHY DIX

A man asks: (1) Can a fairly intelligent and decent man be satisfied throughout his life if the woman he marries is merely a wife to him and nothing more?

Answer: No. Even passion is killed by disillusion and disgust. Marriage is more than a legalized liaison. If it is a success it means two people working together for the same ends, with the same hopes and ambitions and interests and desires. A man wants his wife to be a lover, but also a comrade and partner.

(2) Is it possible for a man to be happy with a wife who, from the first moment of her marriage, refused to make him a home; who took no interest in anything but herself, was lazy, shiftless, dirty, whose kitchen was so filthy and filled with coals that he cooked his own meals; who lay in bed in the morning and called to her daughter that it was time to go to school, instead of seeing that the child was properly bathed and dressed and fed and getting her off as good mothers do?

Answer: No again. One of the things that every man marries for is to get a home, a place of peace and quiet and harmony and physical comfort. It is the desire for such a haven to come back to after the hard day's struggle is ended that makes a man give up his personal liberty and assume the burden of supporting a family. And if he gets this, he feels rewarded for a lifetime of toil and seeing every penny he earns go to the upkeep of a home.

Comfortable Home Essential
But if the wife reneges on her part of the bargain; if when a man comes home tired and worn at night there is no clean hearth to sit by, no good dinner on the table, no cheerful face to welcome him, then he knows he has been gypped, that he has been cheated, that he has been sold down the river to gratify the selfishness of a double-crossing woman.

You never saw a happy man who didn't have a comfortable home, and you never saw a man who was married to a bad housekeeper who wasn't sour and disgruntled.

(3) Why should a man continue to support a woman when she broke the promise she made him when they married to help him raise the motherless 3-year-old daughter of a previous marriage; who treated the child so cruelly he was forced to send her away and allow her to be brought up elsewhere, estranged from her own father; who has balked him in his chance of success in business by making his life so miserable it killed his ambition and warped his judgment.

On Business Basis
Answer: Many women take advantage of the fact that a wife's job is a permanent one from which it is difficult to fire her for failure to do her duty, as she would be dismissed from any business office if she did not give satisfactory service. This is a pity. There would be a lot more good wives if women knew that they held their soft snaps on good behavior.

Then they would yes-yes their husbands as they do their bosses. They would punch the time clock instead of lying in bed while husband got up and got his breakfast. And they would do their share toward earning some of the money they spent. For they would know that the prosperity of the firm depended on teamwork.

The law makes nonsupport one of the causes for which women can divorce their husbands. Men should be able to divorce their wives for being bad housekeepers. J. G. 16-Year-Old in Love

Dear Dorothy Dix—Can you give a boy of 16, who is just beginning to go about with girls, some advice about courtship? I have no mother can get by on the basis of present scientific knowledge and medical science. But there always comes the time when we physicians have to admit we have done everything that the textbooks tell us, but still that isn't enough.

In such a situation you either die, or some other power pulls you through. It is quite fitting and proper for you to engage in prayer and invoke divine aid when you get out of your depth, especially if you have utilized all the human instrumentalities available.

Remember the old adage, however, that God helps those who help themselves. Don't be a penny ante Christian and try to hork in on God's busy day by asking to have your headache removed or your inflamed appendix lifted out by some miracle.

Penne Ante Christians
A new pair of eye glasses may be what you need to permanently relieve your headache. Maybe an aspirin tablet is sufficient for the temporary job. And your local surgeons can snip off that appendix in neat shape if you go to them immediately.

Utilize existing agencies, therefore, before you try to seek a miracle. That advice is simply "horse sense."

I don't mean to advise you against seeking divine help when you have first tried to help yourself as far as possible. But don't be a lazy coward who wants something for nothing.

The time will come when every one of us will urgently desire some outside aid, so we better start laying up some collateral in the Bank of Heaven.

Then we will be more entitled to an audience with the Great Banker when we need a loan for ourselves or our children. And we can then borrow on our own signature without trying to "sponge" on the credit of our mothers and fathers or devout mates.

Good Start on New Work Presages Happy Ending

BY ANGELO PATRI

Starting a task is usually a trying experience. There are doubts and fears to be overcome, and there is always the natural resistance to begin anything that must be mastered. Yet a good start is a long step toward a good ending, and teachers must do all in their power to get the child to make it.

A new experience is always easier to get under way than an old one that is unfinished. Interest, the inspiration of the teacher, the hope of success, the excitement of the adventure helps to give the drive that is necessary to begin. But one is seldom able to accomplish a task at one sitting. Work must be left aside from the time being every day. The worker must return to it again and again and it is this return to the old task that becomes a hardship.

Try to have a child leave his work with a good taste in his mouth for it. That is, if he has made mistakes, in it, set them right so that he knows he can begin without trouble next day. If he finishes the day in weariness, try to send him out with a feeling of fine accomplishment. Say a word of praise, give him a smile and an encouraging word as he goes so that the memory of his work will be pleasant.

"Leave the Needle Threaded"
If he leaves the room in discouragement, a harsh criticism in his ears, he will do all he can to avoid returning, and if he is obliged to resume it will be in an attitude of dislike and rebellion. Work done in that attitude will do no good even though every stitch, every line, every nail be set perfectly. Work is valuable in discipline and training only when it affects the worker and learner happily.

It is good to have a bit of work ready to go forward without delay. If a unit is finished have the pupil start on the next step, know what he is to do when he picks up his job again. That saves time. He will go to work immediately, not worrying about how or what or where. No idling about half hoping the teacher will forget him. "Leave the needle threaded," and a whole train of mischief can be avoided.

Make the Start Easy
When starting a child on new work, something he has never done before, such as making a basket with a new weave, a boat on new lines, it is a good idea to have one of the models well started and to allow the beginner to work on it for a while, letting him finish it if possible. That encourages him at the outset and he feels able to master the difficulties in the work. Saving him the mental hazards of a start often enables a child of less power to do more and better work.

The more skilled the worker the less trouble starting gives him, and the less the teacher or director has to do to help him overcome the starting difficulties. Some unusual children like to begin new work. Let them help the less confident ones in the beginning. Make the start of a new lesson, a new experience, easy enough and a great deal of waste can be avoided.

Mr. Patri has prepared a leaflet entitled, "Stammering," in which he advises parents how to coach the youngsters over this childhood difficulty. Send for it, addressing your request to Mr. Angelo Patri, Child Psychology Department of this paper, P. O. Box 150, Times Square Station, New York, N. Y. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped (3-cent) envelope.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing a three-cent stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

Casual Slaughters

YESTERDAY: The interview with Jeff is unsatisfactory. Ray decides to tell the Colonel about seeing Sandra and Ivan on the barge. Although it makes Jeff's case blacker, she believes it better to examine all the evidence.

Chapter 33
Conviction of Guilt

"That's important," he said gravely when I had finished. "You see what it means, don't you?" That Ivan was probably killed before the rest of you left the beach—during the time when everyone was scattered. As I understand it, the men all went off alone—first Adam, then Gerald or the chaplain, and finally Jeff. You three girls were together, which gives you an alibi—not that anyone would seriously consider that one of you would have killed Ivan.

"Sandra could have killed him before she left the barge," I pointed out. But it was a purely academic observation. Sandra herself had been murdered.

"Of course there is the possibility which someone has suggested," he went on, "that Ivan deliberately remained at the beach to keep an appointment."

"I was coming to that," I said miserably. I had committed myself to telling him the whole truth, but I knew that what was coming was pure dynamite. "There was that car."

"Can you place the time you heard the car?" he asked, unconsciously granting me a reprieve. "It was soon after eleven. I heard taps as we were driving back out there for our swim."

He asked me to describe again just what we had heard and seen. I told of the arrival of the car, the sound of a single door slamming, the dim sight of someone moving on the barge, the brief wait, then the car door again and the repeated whine of the starter.

"And while we were dressing Julia told me—Colonel Pennant. I hope you won't think I'm just trying to make trouble. But I said I was going to tell you everything. And Julia can deny it now all she likes. I'm positive she told me it was Mimi's car; that they had been having trouble starting it."

His eyebrows lifted, but he did not snub me as I had been afraid he would do. Instead, he got to his feet and went over to the door where he pressed an old-fashioned bell push that I could hear ring in the kitchen regions.

"Well, ask Mimi if she knows anything about it," he said easily. Cora came to the door presently, and he asked her to see if Mrs. Pennant was in her room and if she was to ask her to come down.

"Now about Sandra being killed in your room—" he began. I told him that, reserving nothing of Sandra's admission to me that she was afraid of Jeff, and of the fact that she had shared my room since their marriage.

By the time I was through I was frightened by the weight of the case I had made out against Jeff. I had not thoroughly comprehended it myself until I put it into words. And when I went back and told of the encounter at Fieldstone Inn, and Sandra's apparent conviction that Jeff had seen her with Ivan on the barge, and her blunt reminder of the time Jeff had knocked Ivan down—I looked at Colonel Pennant then and saw with a sick sense of remorse what had been unwelcome suspicion on his part was now a conviction of Jeff's guilt.

Well, maybe he was guilty. Julia might never believe it, might never forgive me for what I had just done. But if he was innocent something must come to light to prove it. And if he was guilty there was when you came home?"

"Yes. Of course you know I never lock it—everything is so safe here," she said with unconscious irony. "I suppose someone could have taken it out again. I don't sleep on that side of the house. I probably wouldn't have heard anything."

Colonel Pennant rose. "All right, girls. Thanks for helping. Now I think I'll see Julia. Will one of you ask her to step down here?"

I followed Mimi upstairs and took refuge in the bathroom, so that she would be the one to deliver the message. I waited until I heard Julia go down, then I went to my room and found Mimi waiting for me there.

Even tiny tots may be smart "tailor-maids"! For is anything more beguiling than a small, sturdy figure in a trim little suit like Anne Adams' Pattern 4320? The short, eight gore skirt buttons onto the waist and flares jauntily above dimpled knees. Wouldn't it be dashing in a brave plaid, perhaps with the four-section cap to match? The jacket has a cunning hankie pocket. See how fresh and pretty the collar of the puffed-sleeve blouse looks worn outside the jacket! Why not make a smart wool suit and a two-piece cotton dress? And let the Sewing Instructor smooth the way!

Pattern 4320 is available in children's sizes 3, 4, 5, 6, and 8. Size 3 blouse takes 1 yard 1 inch fabric; skirt 1 yard 54 inch fabric; jacket and cap, 1 yard 54 inch fabric. THE HOME GARDENER
by EDWIN H. PERKINS

Northern grown hedge material is finding its way to market. Most of the material is privet, which makes good, quick growing hedges suited to many uses. If one does not mind the constant shearing this plant requires, it could safely be called the ideal hedging material. It thrives in sunlight or light shade, is not too choosy about the soil in which it will grow and is bothered by surprisingly few pests.

Three general types of "privet" reach the market. The California privet with dark shiny green leaves is most popular. Some Northerners find it freezes out under certain conditions and they prefer Amur "privet," which seems harder, or Ibota privet, a taller and more rugged form. Your local supplier will furnish the type best suited to your locality.

All privet is easy to grow. If planted now, dig a trench at least one foot wide and a foot deep, and far enough from boundaries and walks to allow for growth. The addition of bone meal and a small quantity of first-grade fertilizer to the soil used for filling the trench is recommended.

Set the plants about two inches deeper than their lower branches. This will not kill privet. Then cut back the top to not more than a foot above the soil line and make certain that a depression to retain water is left after the planting. If well soaked when planted, the hedge will need no extra watering.

or anything just say so and I'll go away," she said nervously. "Not at all—I didn't bring any work, and I slept for an hour this morning. I'm glad you came in. I want to thank you for taking it the way you did—what I said. It's not that I'm trying to implicate anyone in this thing. I feel rather unnecessary here, especially with Adam gone. Perhaps I would do better to keep out of it entirely."

"No, no, Kay. Don't feel that way. You're quite right to tell anything you know, and I'm sure we're all very glad you're here. I don't resent your telling about the car. Why should I?"

"That isn't all I told," I said miserably. "I'm afraid Julia will never forgive me. But I got into this

300 Masons at Schubert's Installation

Over 300 Masons from various parts of the state including officers of the grand lodge of Wisconsin gathered at the Appleton Masonic temple last night to witness the installation of William E. Schubert of Appleton as grand junior deacon of Masons of Wisconsin. David O. Stine, Reedsburg, grand master of Wisconsin, was installing officer and A. H. Wickesberg, Appleton, acted as grand marshal. This was the first time since the dedication of the Masonic temple that a grand lodge session has been held in Appleton.

Talks were given by Mr. Schubert, Robert O. Jaspersen, Taycheedah, past grand master Mr. Stine, William F. Weiler, Milwaukee, grand secretary; and Walter O. Helwig, Milwaukee, grand trustee.

W. E. Smith and James Wagg presented the grand officers to the lodge, and after the ceremony Albert Rule presented a basket of flowers to Mr. Schubert on behalf of Fidelity chapter, Order of Eastern Star, of which he is patron.

A dinner prepared by the activities committee of the Masonic temple and served by members of John F. Rose chapter, Order of De Molas, and the local branch of Job's Daughters, preceded the ceremony. Visiting masters were introduced by Oscar Ehike.

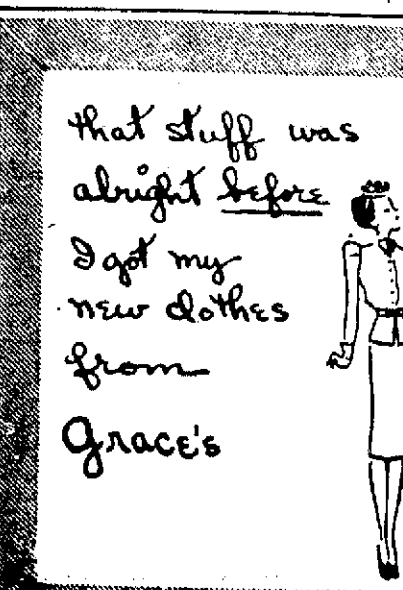

Royal Neighbors of America will open their fall season with a covered dish supper at 6:30 Thursday night at Odd Fellows hall. The committee in charge is composed of Mrs. William Barker, Mrs. Orin Wormwood, Mrs. Catherine Riesenweber and Mrs. Josephine Johnson. There will be a business meeting at 8 o'clock when plans will be made for a public card party on Oct. 3.

Jack Kalman, president of Fox River lodge of B'nai B'rith, appointed chairman of standing committees at a meeting last night at Moses Montefiore social center. Dr. S. Chudacoff is membership chairman; Simon Posen, program; Stanley Hamilton, entertainment; Aleph Zadik Aleph, Sam Belinke; sick committee, Rabbi Ralph De Koven; athletic, Adolph Hamilton; and publicity, H. J. Robitschek.

Constitution day was observed last night with the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner," the reading of the Bill of Rights and the Constitution, and the presentation of an essay by T. Adams. About 60 members attended the meeting which was the first of the season. The lodge voted to sponsor a musical show similar to the one produced last year, proceeds to be turned over to charity.

Joint Birthday Party At Bear Creek Home

Bear Creek — Mrs. Alvirus Walker and Mrs. Silas Walker celebrated their birthday anniversaries at a joint birthday party at the Alvirus Walker home in the town of Bear Creek Sunday. Dinner was served and the afternoon spent socially. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Brackob and family, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Hoffman and family of Clintonville, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Walker and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Silas Walker and Chancy Walker, all of Bear Creek.

Reception, Supper Follows Tuesday Afternoon Nuptials

Miss Frieda Stiebs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. August Stiebs, route 2, Appleton, and Kenneth Krake, route 2, New London, were married at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the parsonage of First English Lutheran church by the Rev. F. C. Reuter. Miss Mary Stiebs, sister of the bride, and Warren Snider, Manawa, attended the couple.

A reception and supper for 35 guests were held at the home of the bride's parents, and in the evening a wedding dance was given at the Bowery, New London. The couple will reside at New London.

Kautzer-Koehler
Miss Janet Kautzer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Kautzer, Chilton, became the bride of Francis Koehler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Koehler, Chilton, at the nuptial mass at 6:45 this morning at St. Mary church. Chilton. The bride was attended by her friend, Miss Virginia Young, as bridesmaid. Sylvester Koehler was his brother's best man. The bride was graduated from Chilton High school with the class of 1937. She has been employed at the Johnson-Hill store. Chilton. The bridegroom is a graduate of Stockbridge High school with the class of 1937. The young people will reside in Chilton.

Circle Holds Musical Quiz

A musical quiz based on an imaginary airplane trip over the United States was conducted by Miss Annette Buchanan and Miss Irene Albrecht at the meeting of the Music circle of First Congregational church yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Lacey Horton, N. Mary street, following a luncheon. Miss Buchanan was the commentator and Miss Albrecht played the background music. Winners were Mrs. George Jackson and Mrs. John Lonsdorf.

Mrs. Horton sang two solos, "Jennie With the Light Brown Hair" by Foster and "Carry Me Back to Ole Virginia" by Bland, and Mrs. Agnes Dean sang "Swing Low Sweet Chariot" and "On the Banks of the Wabash" by Blake. A piano solo, "Moonlight on the Hudson," was played by Mrs. Alex Young and two solos, "On Wisconsin" and "By the Waters of Minnetonka" were played by Mrs. W. H. Kreiss.

The entire group sang "America the Beautiful," "A Perfect Day," "Wisconsin Evermore" by Willett and "God Bless America."

Plans were made for a rummage sale in October. Mrs. Alex Young, 613 N. Tonka street, will be hostess for the October meeting.

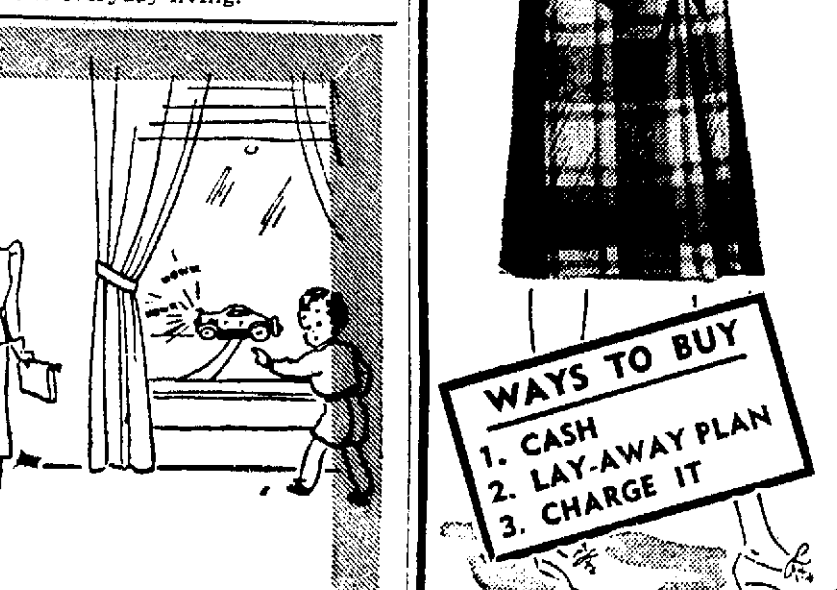

Circle 7 of First Congregational church will have a 1 o'clock wienner roast Thursday afternoon at Telulah park. Hostesses will be Mrs. Fannie Spencer and Mrs. Owen Kuether.

Sewing for the bazaar will be done at the meeting of the Social Welfare circle of St. John Evangelical and Reformed church at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Herman Schade, 1024 W. Packard street.

Women's Missionary society of First English Lutheran church will meet at 7:45 Thursday night at the parish hall. The Rev. F. C. Reuter, pastor, will speak on "The Future of the Church," and a social hour will follow. Ladies Aid society will announce final arrangements for the chicken dinner and supper to be served Sept. 26.

Accountant to Talk To Students Monday

Willard J. Schenck, Appleton accountant, will address students of the mathematics department of Appleton High school in the auditorium Monday afternoon during the home room period. Schenck will discuss the application of mathematics to everyday living.

Tea, Costume Party Launch Rushing Week Activities of Sigma Alpha Iota Sorority

Like the six social sororities at Lawrence college, Sigma Alpha Iota music sorority, is entertaining a series of rushing parties this week. The opening tea was given Sunday at Mrs. Henry Johnson's home, E. College avenue, and Monday night the group gave a costume party at Mrs. Ralph Watts' home, E. John street, the guests coming dressed as their favorite song. Tonight a Jack-and-Jill musicale will be given at Mrs. H. K. Pratt's home, N. Lawe street, and Thursday evening the sorority will be hosted at a banquet at the Copper Kettle. A tea Saturday afternoon at the Neenah Recreation building will close the rushing period. Pledging will take place Sunday at Mrs. Dick Jagerson's home, Clark street, Neenah, followed by a pledge banquet at the Columns Tea room, Neenah. Miss Janet Flewell, Duluth, Minn., is the sorority's rushing chairman.

Miss Bernice Stark, who is employed in the office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation in Washington, D. C., and who is spending a vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Stark, 720 N. Clark street, has been honored at several parties during her visit. Monday night she was entertained at a theater party given by Miss Mary Waterman and Mrs. R. N. Johnson, and last Friday evening Mrs. Willmer Wink, N. Superior street, was hostess at a waffle supper at her home.

Miss Stark entertained a few friends last evening at her parents' home. An out-of-town guest was Miss Marjorie Waterman, Taylorville, Ill., a guest of Miss Mary Waterman, 228 N. Union street. Miss Stark will return to Washington Friday.

Manhattan club will hold its first dinner dance of the season, one of a series of eight, next Tuesday night at Castle hall. Dinner will be served at 7 o'clock and the hall will be decorated with autumn flowers and leaves.

Mr. and Mrs. Mel Buxton are co-chairmen of the party and their committee consists of Mr. and Mrs. William Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. William Falatich, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Barkow and Mr. and Mrs. Merwyn Clough.

The Rev. C. B. Vandenberg, Kimberly, chaplain of Father Fitzpatrick.

Sylvester-Engel
Miss Florence Sylvester, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Sylvester, route 1, Seymour, and Roy Engel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Engel, route 2, Seymour, will be married at 7:30 this evening at the Evangelical church, Seymour. The Rev. A. Bernhardt will perform the ceremony. Attendants will be Wilmer Engel, brother of the bridegroom, and Miss Mildred Sylvester, sister of the bride. There will be a reception at the home of the bride after the ceremony. After a wedding trip to southern Wisconsin and Illinois, the couple will reside, for the present, at the Sylvester home.

Plans for Institute Are Charted

Officers of the Wisconsin Council of Church Women and a Lawrence college professor will be the speakers at the Fellowship Institute which the Interdenominational Council of Church Women of Appleton will sponsor at 10 o'clock Friday morning, Sept. 27, at Memorial Presbyterian church.

Mrs. L. B. Mosely, Madison, state president of the Wisconsin Council of Church Women, will discuss "Christian Family Life." Mrs. Frank Spillman, Fond du Lac, first vice president of the Wisconsin council, will speak on "Lighted Windows," and Mrs. D. J. De Gelke, second vice president, will give a report on the Lake Geneva conference of church women this summer.

Dr. George Douglas, sociology professor at Lawrence college, will give a talk entitled "An Analysis of Juvenile Delinquency." Others on the program which will run from 10 to 3 o'clock, will be Mrs. W. S. Lincoln, retired Baptist missionary, whose subject will be "Privileged American Women," Mrs. Robert K. Bell, Appleton, who will lead the devotions and Mrs. Orville Selig who will play the organ prelude.

Women attending the institute will bring a lunch for the noon meal, and coffee and cream will be served.

Mrs. Joseph Stoeger was chairman of the social hour for the meeting of Christian Mothers society of Sacred Heart church last night at the parish hall. Her assistants were Mrs. John Slattery, Mrs. Joseph Laux and Mrs. Norbert Ranky. Schafkopf prizes were won by Mrs. Robert Fahrerkug and Mrs. George Spay, bridge awards went to Mrs. Peter Jacobs and Mrs. William Becker and court whist prizes were awarded to Mrs. William Marx and Mrs. Louis Dasher. Special prizes went to Mrs. Frank Hartzheim and Mrs. Grant Collins. Mrs. Frank Vanderlinden will be chairman of the October meeting.

Mrs. Carl Ebert will review the book, "Stand By for China" by Gordon Poteat at the meeting of Women's Union of First Baptist church Thursday at the church. The meeting will open at 10 o'clock with the women doing White Cross work, and a pot-luck luncheon will be served at noon. The business meeting will take place in the afternoon. The meeting is being held earlier than usual because of the Green Bay association meeting next Tuesday at Fond du Lac.

ing for an invader, and the British command—while conceding that the Italians have moved swiftly and efficiently so far—does not regard their present position as a serious menace.

British tank units have retired before the Italian sweep after inflicting heavy casualties. British headquarters announced, with relatively few losses among the defenders.

Harassing operations have included charges by tank patrols, artillery fire and aerial bombardment, it was announced.

One apparent reason why the British are biding their time before joining in a decisive battle is the expectation that the Italians' supply difficulties will increase as they move further from their bases through a desert which offers no food and little water.

Water supply presents the invaders' greatest problem, although 12 old Roman wells at Sidi Barrani will permit the Italians to replenish their supplies.

Surprise British

Rome—Italian dispatches said today Libyan soldiers performed the seemingly impossible feat of marching 80 miles in a desert sandstorm to surprise a British garrison at Sidi Barrani, Egypt, and capture that strongly defended second line of defense.

The Italian high command declared that the resistance of the army massed from all parts of the British empire to defend the western desert had been "crushed everywhere" and that the Italian force at Sidi Barrani now was organizing for a further push toward Alexandria and the Suez canal.

(The Italian wireless said four columns of natives and blackshirts were attacking all along the frontier and one of them was carrying forward a wide encircling maneuver from the south.)

The British hardly expected human beings were capable of the endurance displayed by the Libyan troops who seized Sidi Barrani, Italian dispatches said, and expected them to use the customary Arab practice of covering up during a sandstorm such as swept in from the Sahara yesterday.

The high command reported even the British armored formations were routed. Part of their defenses consisted of mine fields, it was reported.

The British were reported to have found time, however, to dynamite and salt the 12 ancient Roman wells.

Nazis Turned Back During Aerial Clash

while others bombed a convoy off the Hague, the Netherlands, and a new airbase at Ymuiden, the Netherlands.

In today's big thrust at London, following a record night attack, Germany's bombers were vastly outnumbered by their escort of sharp-nosed Messerschmidts. The exact number of bombers was undetermined, but observers said the fighter escort was probably the largest ever sent to protect such a small number.

British Hurricanes and Spitfires, hovering on patrol at altitudes even higher than the Germans' 15,000 feet, dived on this armada over the Thames estuary, timing their attack to coincide with the full blast of the British ground defense.

The geometrical patterns of the raid formations were turned topsy-turvy in the 15 minutes of twisting, diving, climbing battle in which individual fighters chose their opponents in battle tactics as old as the fighting plane.

Swift-rising British interceptor planes joined the battle from below as the Hurricanes and Spitfires attacked from above. Shell bursts from booming "archies" studded the scene of tumult.

Six Shot Down

An early report on the results of the quarter-hour melee said that six German planes were shot down.

The government said it feared casualties "may be heavier than in recent nights" as Nazi bombers battered all sections of the city.

Direct hits were scored on the stores of D. H. Evans and Co., general drapers, John Lewis and Co., and H. Hillingworth, women's and children's wear, all in Oxford street of London's fashionable Mayfair.

A bomb also has fallen on the lawn of historic Westminster abbey, across from the houses of parliament, and blasted out a crater, it was disclosed.

"Large scale" raids on German shipping concentrations, barges and communications along the German-held channel coast and on "certain targets" in Germany was announced by the air ministry, as the R. A. F. massed its weight against Adolf Hitler's invasion preparations, once more acute with the blowing out of yesterday's channel gale.

Weather cleared over the English channel and large numbers of German planes took advantage of the calmer skies to raid the southeast coast in wide formations of three and four planes each. R. A. F. fighters rose to meet the attackers and aerial fighting ensued.

A time bomb fell near the United States embassy, but did not explode.

High School Student Staff Starts Work on Yearbook

Work on the 1941 Clarion, Appleton High school yearbook, has begun with staff organization.

Appointments to the major positions have been made by Barbara Jane Rosebush and Margaret Lally, co-editors. Stanley Williams heads the photography staff.

The senior section will be handled by Jean Watson, Jean Balliet and Judy Marston. Seniors will have their pictures taken for the yearbook soon. The yearbook again will contain the individual pictures of underclassmen and the "junior department" will be handled by Nan-jay Lou Balliet, June Fuimal and Marjorie Rogers.

Descriptions of the activities of the high school's many clubs will be written by Mariam Carlson, Joyce Coley, Mary Bob Knapp and Marye Trezie. Sports writers will be John Milhaupt, Douglas Fox, Dorothy Bailey and Charles Kleiroth. Sally Gorrow and Helen Fox will take over the departmental copy.

Williams will be assisted by John Conway and Sally Schieman. Ann Smith and Billie Kolb have charge of all art work in the production of the yearbook. Additions to the staff of the Clarion will be made as the work progresses.

The business staff has begun soliciting under the direction of Mary Fiedler and Edward Reuter. Frances Wheeler will keep the accounts and Fred Heinrich has charge of subscription and circulation. Advisers to the yearbook staffs are Miss Esther Graef, mathematics instructor, Miss Annabelle Wolf, English instructor, and Miss Enola Brandt, Latin instructor.

Fennimore, by a scant 40 votes on the basis of returns from 331 of the district's 364 precincts.

Former Congressman Gardner Withrow of LaCrosse, maintained his 8 to 1 lead over Charles D. Rosa, of Lancaster, for the Progressive nomination.

George T. Doherty, of LaCrosse, was unopposed for the Democratic congressional nomination in the Third district, as was Jacob M. Weisman, of Racine, in the First; Wallace A. Bloedorn, of Polaris, in the Seventh; James E. Hughes, of New Richmond, in the Ninth; and John G. Green in the Tenth.

Other apparent Democratic congressional nominees on the basis of early returns were Thomas R. Brooks, of Watertown. Second district; Thaddeus F. B. Wasielewski, of Milwaukee. Fourth; Francis T. Murphy, of Milwaukee. Fifth.

The unopposed congressmen, assured of nomination, were Stephen Bolles, of Janesville. Republican, in the First district; John C. Schaefer, of Milwaukee. Republican, Fourth district; Merlin Hull of Black River Falls. Progressive. Ninth district, and B. J. Gehrman of Mellen, Progressive, in the Tenth district.

The Republicans generally were displaying a heavier aggregate vote than the Democratic and Progressive candidates.

Mack Winner; Catlin, Lang Are Nominated

State Senator Defeats Gantner; Jack Elected Progressive Nominee

Mike Mack, Shiocton, seasoned state legislator, had little trouble in capturing the Republican nomination for state senator from the Fourteenth district in yesterday's primary.

With only one precinct missing in the district that covers Outagamie and Shawano counties, Mack's total was 12,139 compared to 4,194 for William J. Gantner, the mayor of Kaukauna and a state assemblyman.

Harry H. Jack copped the Progressive nomination for state senator, totaling 1,253 in the two counties to George Egan's 953.

Mark Catlin, Jr., gained heavily "in the stretch" during last night's tabulating and won re-nomination as Republican candidate for the state assembly from the First district in Outagamie county. Catlin counted 4,109 votes against 3,755 for Roland A. Kueck, Louis Bonini, Democrat, who was unopposed, picked up 922 votes and Lawrence F. McGillan, the only Progressive in the field, tallied 703.

Lloyd Lang, village president of Kimberly, won the Republican nomination for Second district assemblyman, the post vacated by Mayor Gantner of Kaukauna. Lang had 1,296, George L. Smith 946, Arthur Zuchies 775, and Gustave E. Hanges 732. William M. Rohan received 604 votes and the Democratic nomination, defeating Leo H. Schmalz who had 468. Arthur J. Hoolhan was credited with 383 votes in beating out John F. Sieber for the Progressive nomination.

In the state senate race, the breakdown for the two counties follows: Shawano (one precinct missing), Republican, Mack, 3,812; Gantner, 931; Progressive, Jack, 502; Egan, 404; Outagamie county, Republican Mack, 8,327; Gantner, 3,263; Progressive, Jack, 751; Egan, 549.

Milwaukee —(7)— Virtually complete returns from more than 60 of Wisconsin's 100 assembly districts showed that almost the entire bloc of incumbents running for re-nomination those districts swept to victory in yesterday's primary election.

The assemblymen who apparently met defeat in their bid for re-nomination were Anthony Gruszka, Republican, in the Marathon First district; Lyle Douglas, Republican, in the Waushara First, and Arthur Hinz, Republican, in Fond du Lac's Second district.

Among candidates nominated and those who appeared, on the basis of nearly complete returns, assured of nomination:

Brown First: Kasten (R); Lytle (D), incumbent; Greenwood (P); Brown Second: Larsen (R); Sweet (D), incumbent; Kalf (P); Calumet; Barnard (R); Huphauf (D); Peik (P), incumbent.

Young People's Group Planned at Church

Fremont —(7)— A meeting for the organization of a young people's society will be held at 7:30 Thursday evening at St. Paul's Lutheran church. The Rev. Louis I. Going will preside.

Divine services in the English language will be conducted at 9:15 Sunday morning at St. Paul's Lutheran church.

Officers of the Ladies Aid society of Zion Lutheran church, Readfield, have been elected as follows: President, Mrs. John Schneider; vice president, Mrs. Frank Klesow; secretary, Mrs. John Kohl; treasurer, Mrs. Ernest Huber.

Mrs. Margaret Neuschaefer will entertain the luncheon club the first meeting of the season at her home Friday afternoon.

The Women's Improvement club met with Mrs. R. F. Schliebe Tuesday evening.

Woman Given Divorce And Custody of Child

Theresa Boelter, 30, route 2, Shiocton, charged cruel and inhuman treatment and was granted a divorce from William Boelter, 28, Waupun, in municipal court of Judge Thomas H. Ryan this morning. She was given custody of a minor child and awarded support and alimony of $10 a month. The couple married July 14, 1937 and separated last January.

Sister, Mrs. Hattie Knudsen, Manawa, and a grandchild. The body may be viewed at the residence after 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

ELECTION CROWD JAMS EDITORIAL ROOM—Here is part of the crowd that drifted in and out of the editorial room of the Appleton Post-Crescent last night as reporters tabulated the returns of the Outagamie county primary. Votes Close in Attorney Race

Anderson and Zwickey In Contest; Waupaca Swings to Eberlein

Waupaca — A close race for the Republican nomination for district attorney drew the attention of Waupaca county voters in yesterday's primary.

With all but three of the 42 precincts accounted for, J. Kyle Anderson was leading A. Don Zwickey, 2,193 to 1,901 today.

Alice C. Larkee was leading a 4-cornered fight for the Republican nomination for register of deeds. She had 1,850, Paul J. Behm 931, George N. Brooks 842, and Fred E. Reinke 538.

Waupaca county Republicans gave Michael G. Eberlein heavy support in his quest for Republican nomination for congress. Eberlein had 1,557, with Fred H. Clausen polling 918 and Reuben W. Peterson 594. Governor Julius P. Heil, in 39 of the 42 precincts, was running far ahead of James K. Robinson, 2,942 to 1,183.

Democratic voters gave Francis E. McGovern the edge in the race for gubernatorial nomination. McGovern had 178, with William R. Callahan's 88 running second. Gustave J. Keller, unopposed for attorney-general, received 275 votes. In the race for United States senator, James E. Finnegan had 141, William D. Carroll 53, and James J. Kerwin 42.

No Opposition

Unopposed on the Republican ticket were Leland J. Steiger for clerk; Leonard J. Stadler for treasurer; Walter L. Jones for sheriff; Albert M. Christofferson for coroner; Paul Ovrom for clerk of circuit court; and Walter E. Hoyard for surveyor. Of this number, Steiger polled the largest vote, 3,815, in the 30 precincts. Julius Spearbraker had no opposition on the Republican ticket for assembly.

In the Progressive race for governor, the county gave Harold E. Stafford 462, Paul R. Alfonsi 240, and Henry A. Gunerson 95. These figures were for all 42 precincts.

With all but one precinct accounted for, Raymond B. Wright was well ahead in the Progressive race for the nomination for sheriff. Wright had 909 and Martin Kleist 317.

Results of the Progressive legislative contest were: Alvin A. Handrich, 717, Rhinard Anderson, 418, Peter C. Jensen, 221. Unopposed on the Progressive ballot were Robert E. Ewald for clerk, Peter M. Johnson for treasurer, Lawrence G. Patterson for coroner, Harold Hedtke for clerk of circuit court, DeLyle Omholt for district attorney, and Theodore R. Peterson for register of deeds.

"Orientation Week" Starts at University

Madison —(7)— Approximately 2,400 youths assembled for "freshmen orientation week" at the University of Wisconsin today. They are required to report a week earlier than sophomores, juniors, seniors and graduate students to acclimate themselves to university life. Faculty members and upper classmen offered guidance. Registration officials said university enrollment would approximate 11,000, equalling that of last year.

Boy and Girl Scouts to be Filmed by Life Newsreels

Life Newsreels will shoot color movies of boy and girl scouts this week for the feature length film, "Life in Appleton and the Fox Valley," which will be shown at the Rio theater Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 25 and 26.

The camera crew will film several troops of boy scouts and cub packs at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon at Jones park. The girl scouts and Brownies will have their turn at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon at Pierce park.

Representatives of Life Newsreels were stationed at the main entrance of Appleton High school at noon yesterday and trained their color cameras on 1,400 students leaving the building for the noon hour. The camera crew visited football practice at both Lawrence college and the high school yesterday and took pictures at the meeting of the Appleton Rotary club.

Election night in a newspaper office was filmed last evening in the Post-Crescent, as reporters hurried about their work of taking and tabulating primary returns, with crowds looking on.

Today the camera crew was scheduled to film activities at Lawrence college convocation, Kiwanis club, Washington, St. Joseph's, Franklin, and Roosevelt schools. The Roosevelt Junior High school football team also was made the subject of a sequence.

The full-length color movie, "Life in Appleton and the Fox Valley," is being produced under the direction of the Appleton Post-Crescent. It will present a cross section of the life and times of Appleton, Neenah-Menasha, Kaukauna, Kimberly, and Little Chute in the year 1940.

Farmers Cutting Corn, Fill Silos

Fremont — Farmers in the towns of Fremont, Wolf River and Coletonia have commenced cutting corn and filling their silos. Practically all corn has attained full growth, the ears are mostly ripe with nearly all the kernels dented. Silo filling will occupy the attention of most farmers in the county this week. Farmers who are not yet filling silos are cutting their corn and setting the bundles in shocks for later husking. A bumper crop is reported.

About five hundred persons were present at dinner Sunday noon at St. Paul's Lutheran church observing its annual mission festival. The Rev. A. E. Schneider, East Bloomfield, conducted the services in the morning and the Rev. J. H. Potraz, Shawano, was the guest speaker at the afternoon services.

The Wolf River Hope Reformed church congregation celebrated its annual mission festival at the church Sunday. English services were conducted at 10:30 in the morning and at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. The Rev. F. P. Bolliger of the Mission House was the speaker at both services. A lunch was served at noon by the women of the church.

A card party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Looker Saturday evening. Three tables of five hundred were in play. Prizes were won by Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Marquardt, Mrs. Martha Drews, Mrs. Lavern Lovejoy, Allan Steiger and Reinhold Koehler.

Roland Wells, rural mail carrier, and Mrs. Wells have gone on a two weeks trip to Arco, Minn., to visit Mr. and Mrs. Armin Boettcher. They also expect to visit the Black Hills, S. D.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Richter of River Hills suburb of Milwaukee have returned after a visit at the Emil Fischer home.

Ask City to Limit Traffic on Street

A petition asking the city council to limit truck traffic on Prospect avenue was presented to the city clerk this morning, signed by 20 property owners. The petition proposes that truck traffic which now leaves the city to the west and south over Prospect avenue should be routed north of College avenue to Superhighway 41. The petition will be submitted to the council tonight.

Schwabe Wins G.O.P. Nod in Calumet County

Candidate for Sheriff Scores Easy Victory in Primary Election

Interest in the Calumet county primary election Tuesday centered in the sheriff's race, the only county office for which candidates had opposition. Earl Schwabe won the Republican nomination with 1,108 votes, Henry J. Schaefer, the Progressive nomination with 440 votes and Edgar R. Lange, the Democratic nomination with 331. The incumbent, Sheriff Gerhard Jensen, did not seek reelection.

In a close contest for the Republican nomination for assemblyman, Charles R. Barnard defeated Orin H. Leverenz, 873 to 785. Barnard's opponents in the November election will be Carl J. Peik, who received 409 votes in an uncontested bid for the Progressive nomination, and Henry Huplauf, who was opposed for the Democratic nomination and received 495 votes.

The Republican vote, about 1,800, was the heaviest in the county. About 600 Democratic and 500 Progressive ballots were cast.

Schwabe was far ahead of his Republican opponents in the sheriff's contest. Alfred N. Hertel received 33 votes and Ray Thede, 405. Schaefer also was an easy winner. Harry C. Hass, his only rival for the Progressive nomination, receiving 94 votes. The Democratic vote was much closer, Lange totaling only 25 more votes than Daniel C. Flatley, who polled 306.

A total of 241 Calumet county voters cast their ballots for Glen Frank's candidacy for United States senator, despite his death in an automobile accident Sunday. Fred H. Clausen, however, was the preference of a plurality of Calumet county voters, polling 465 votes, followed closely by Dr. John P. Koehler with 439, and Michael Eberley with 308. Other Republican nominees were William C. Maas, who received 100 votes; Reuben W. Peterson, 79; and Walter B. Chilsen, 53.

The campaign to nominate John Cudahy for senator on the Democratic ticket made little headway in Calumet county, as only 91 voters wrote in his name. James E. Finnegan carried the county with 212 votes, to 130 for James J. Kerwin and 106 for William D. Carroll. Senator LaFollette, unopposed Progressive, received 458 votes.

Governor Heil and other Republican incumbents, ran far ahead in their party primary, while the Progressives and Democratic candidates put on a better show.

The vote in the Republican primary was:

For governor — Heil, 1,358, Robinson, 445.

For lieutenant governor — Goodland, 1,235; Wardle, 225, and O'Konsky, 81.

For secretary of state — Zimmerman, 1,387; Gottelman, 295.

For state treasurer — Smith, 81; Wilkinson, 276; Greeley, 258; Roberts, 320.

For representative in congress — Keefe, unopposed, 1,383.

Results in the Calumet county Democratic primary were:

For governor — McGovern, 288; Callahan, 234; Cannon, 49; Hagedorn, 25.

For lieutenant governor — Kelly, 584.

For secretary of state — Seyfert, 476.

For state treasurer — Ringle, 326; Lawrie, 203.

For attorney-general — Keller, 493.

For representative in congress — Fessler, 354; Hardgrove, 169.

Progressive primary votes in the county were as follows:

For governor — Loomis, 176; Stafford, 153; Gunderson, 61; Alfonsi, 40; Nelson, 35.

For lieutenant governor — Miller, 385.

For secretary of state — Schultz, 237; Larsen, 148.

For state treasurer — Zeidler, 254; Johnson, 164.

For attorney-general — Christenson, 165; Kading, 130; Ingram, 71.

For representative in congress —

Others Unopposed

Except for the sheriff's race, nominees for Calumet county offices were unopposed.

The Democratic nominees are Roland E. Miller, county clerk, 638 votes; Jacob J. Grimm, county treasurer, 601; John J. Minahan, coroner, 590; Michael Schwarz, clerk of the circuit court, 576; Edward S. Eick, district attorney, 537; Eugene H. Schabach, register of deeds, 535; and John J. Johnson, surveyor, 545.

Republican nominees are Gladys Schmidt, clerk of the circuit court, 371; Donald E. Bonk, district attorney, 444; and Charles M. Luther, register of deeds, 437.

Three Progressive nominees also were unopposed. They were John A. Knauf, coroner, 1,383; Matt Nilles, Jr., clerk of the circuit court, 1,247; and Franklin J. Schmieder, district attorney, 1,143.

Motorist, 26, Denies Drunken Driving Charge

Frederick Dahm, Jr., 26, Waupaca, pleaded not guilty of drunken driving when he was arraigned in municipal court of Judge Thomas H. Ryan this morning. Trial was set for Sept. 25 and he was released on a $500 bond.

Dahm was arrested by city police following an accident at 6 o'clock last night involving a car driven by Dahm and Fred H. Schultz, 32, route 1, Appleton. Both were coming west when, according to police, the Dahm car struck the Schultz machine from the rear.

Lawrence Sees Improvement in Willkie's Drive

Candidate's Radio Delivery Is Better; Talk More Effective

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Washington — Impressions made by Wendell Willkie's speech at Coffeyville, Kansas, opening his western campaign, seem to be that he not only showed an improved radio delivery as compared with his acceptance speech, but that he made a well-rounded attack that will prove more effective, too, in getting votes.

The Willkie campaign has been slow to start. The fact that a whole month was allowed to elapse between the acceptance speech at Elwood and the first major speech at Coffeyville, Kansas, is not to the Republican nominee's advantage in times like these when the Democratic nominee is able to use the power of publicity given to a president in office, especially as events of extraordinary importance are transpiring in the news.

The so-called dip in Willkie strength revealed in some states by the Gallup poll can be attributed to the fact that Willkie has a hard time getting into the minds of the voters when he remains silent, because unlike Mr. Roosevelt, he has not been before the American people for seven years as a public figure.

The Coffeyville speech, however, is the kind of campaigning which is bound to intensify the contest itself. It is hardly to be expected that the president will remain silent in the face of definite accusations such as are being made by the Republican nominee. This is the kind of a presidential election, however, in which fluctuations in the Gallup polls between now and Nov. 5 may be anticipated. For, at the moment, the bid of the president for a third term is based on the idea that he alone can carry the nation through the world situation. It assumes that Cordell Hull, eminent secretary of state and the man who really has made our foreign policy for nearly eight years, would not have made a good nominee for the Democratic party, that Paul McNutt would not have been satisfactory and that the party could not have furnished anyone else to carry on after the Roosevelt two terms.

Willkie's Viewpoint
The importance of the third term issue has not yet been emphasized in the Willkie speeches or statements. His present approach is that in normal times a third term might be considered by the people, but that when democracy is at stake in the world the breaking of our democratic traditions is unthinkable. His point of view apparently is that there were no dictatorships in the world, the American people might give thought to the question of whether a third term is or is not desirable for an incumbent, but that in this year, of all years, the question has to be decided in the negative.

The third term issue, however, needs clarification. Lots of people feel that if the American people decide to elect a man who has had two terms, they alone can break the tradition, and so long as it is accomplished in a democratic manner, there can be no objection to the breaking of the tradition itself. This is in reality the New Deal view and is one of the points which prompted the president himself to consider the acceptance of a third term nomination.

Different View
The third term issue, on the other hand, as it is seen by other observers is entirely different. They ask whether any president should be permitted to succeed himself, either for a second or a third term, if he allows his nomination to be brought about by what Woodrow Wilson once termed "sleight means," namely, the use of presidential power to influence delegates.

Certainly the president not only brought about his own nomination for a third term through the means of officeholders and others obligated to him, but he dictated the nomination of the vice presidential candidate, Henry Wallace. Shall

American presidents be allowed by the electorate to use their offices to continue themselves or their own choices in power? This is more than the third term issue. It is a question of truly democratic and representative government. The theory eschews the government.

The theory heretofore has been that the decision of the people alone should count, but when possession of the voting machinery of a major party is accomplished by the officeholders, it may well happen that those receiving benefits from the administration can hold the balance of power and perpetuate themselves in authority.

It has often been said that George Washington never commented really on the third term idea and that he retired from office after two terms for personal reasons, but said nothing against the idea of a third term. The truth is George Washington did think there was no need of putting in a limitation of tenure because he thought presidents would not use their offices to perpetuate themselves. He wrote on April 28, 1788:

Washington's Statement
"Guarded so effectually as the proposed constitution is, in respect to the prevention of bribery and undue influence in the choice of president, I confess I differ widely, myself, from Mr. Jefferson and you as to the necessity or expediency of rotation in that department (the presidency). There cannot be in my judgment the least danger that the president will by any practical intrigue ever be able to continue himself one moment in office, much less perpetuate himself in it but in the last state of corrupted morals and political depravity, and even then, there is as much danger that any species of domination would prevail. Though when a people shall have become incapable of governing themselves, and fit for a master, it is of little consequence from what quarter he comes."

The foregoing quotation is rarely given in full by those who favor the third term for the only part they do quote usually is that which follows when Washington, having insisted

Lecture Series Begins Oct. 10

Grant Haas, Madison Columnist, to Speak At Civic Auditorium

Kaukauna—A series of six forum lectures by Grant C. Haas, Madison columnist and radio commentator, beginning Oct. 10, is announced today by William T. Sullivan, director of Kaukauna Vocational school, which is sponsoring the series.

Haas appeared here last winter before capacity turnouts. The coming series will be held in the civic auditorium, with no registration necessary and no enrollment fee to be charged.

The topics selected by Haas for the series are as follows: "The Second Year of the War," "Why France Collapsed," "If the Nazis Dominate Europe," "Preparedness and Conscription," "Japan Grasps at Opportunity," "Changing Foreign Policy in a Changing World."

Each meeting will be divided into three parts. Half an hour will be devoted to analysis and interpretation of the week's news, three-fourths of an hour to the lecture topic and the same period to open discussion and questions.

that a president must not use his power to perpetuate himself, declared that the people need not then preclude themselves "from the services of any man who in some great emergency shall be deemed universally most capable of serving the public."

Was the Democratic National convention at Chicago the sort of thing George Washington had in mind? That's the subject on which the people will ask for discussion in the campaign which has just begun. It's the heart of the so-called third term issue.

Constitution Is Program Theme At High School

Students Give Brief Talks on Phases of Historic Document

Kaukauna—High school students celebrated the anniversary of the signing of the United States constitution with an assembly program yesterday morning, with Thomas Nolan of the faculty in charge.

Brief talks on phases of the constitution were given by Laverne Lopus, Helen Andrejeski, Dolores Giesbers, Joyce Krueger, Marion Gorchals, Marjorie Pein, Lois Berg, Arthur Lauer and John Clancy. William Van Lieshout and Robert Bolinske were the main characters in a skit dealing with the constitution. Thomas McCarty presented an oration, "Our Constitution."

JoAnn McCarty was chairman for a debate on the question, "Resolved, the power of the federal government should be increased." On the affirmative side were Maurice Rosenblatt and Magdalene Otte, with Mary and James McGrath taking the negative.

William Van Lieshout and Margaret Eiting sang solos, with Miss Lucille Austin at the piano. The high school band, directed by Clarence Kriesa, opened and closed the program.

Strong DePere Squad to Clash With Kaukauna

Veteran Line Expected To Provide Test for Conference Champions

Kaukauna—One Saturday in the fall of 1937 the high school eleven traveled to West DePere and was beaten. Since then Coach Paul E. Little's charges haven't lost a conference game. This Saturday another Black Phantom team puts in appearance on the local field, and the idea in the minds of coaches and players is to avoid a repetition of the 1937 contest, a 19 to 7 loss.

Seven lettermen returned this year for Coach William Van Sistine to build his team about. The center of the line, showing Jack Chriske at center and Jobie Simon and Ray Coenen at guard, is expected to prove particularly troublesome to the Kaws, who go into the game with a veteran backfield and an untied forward wall.

Van Sistine's other veterans are Bob Heesaker, a fine running back, Joe Kazik, another back, and a pair of tried ends, Cy Van Sistine and Walter Marquardt.

Last season's Black Phantom club was the only outfit to score two touchdowns against Little's two-time conference champs.

Last night Little's first team seemed to consist of John Velte, center, Roland Hanson and Jiri Helf, guards, Ray Hurst and Bill Dryer, tackles, Leo Rohan and Bill Alger, ends, and Karl Giordana, Joe Regenfuss, Bob Danner and Willis Ranguette in the backfield. Little has a number of reserve linemen and backs who will get their chance against West DePere.

Mary Lummerding Is Head of Junior CYO

Kaukauna—St. Mary's junior CYO organized Monday evening, electing Mary Lummerding president, Dorothy Kobussen secretary and Marie Vils, treasurer. Norbert Becker, vice president of the senior group, was appointed adviser to the juniors. The Rev. Michael Drexler, assistant pastor of St. Mary's church, gave a talk.

Homer White Heads Fraternal Pin League

Kaukauna—An 8-team Fraternal bowling league, to open play Friday evening, Oct. 1, was formed last night at Schell alleys. Homer White is league president, with Fay G. Fosson secretary and treasurer.

The Kaukauna office of the Appleton Post-Crescent is located in the Jules Mertes barbershop on Wisconsin avenue. William Dowling is the correspondent in charge and the telephone number is 107. Subscribers may call this number until 6:30 in the evening if their papers were not delivered.

thing. Sandra was with me so much during the last few days—"

I needed to justify myself. Somehow I felt that I had put a noose around Jeff's neck. I wanted someone to reassure me. I was ready to pour out the whole thing; but before I could go on Mimi burst into sudden, passionate speech.

"I'm glad she's dead! I don't want to know who killed her,—I don't care." Her cheeks were scarlet, her eyes blazing. "You needn't look at me like that, Kay. I'm not insane. And I don't care what you think of me. It's true and I have to say it: I'm glad she's dead. You didn't know her the way I did. She was bad, Kay. Bad through and through!"

I stared at her in horrified silence. Mimi, the self-contained, the soft spoken, she had seemed so fond of Sandra, I thought wildly. Or had she? I began to remember little things.

"How I wish I had never seen her!" she cried distractedly. "Kay—I don't know what there is about you, but I feel I can trust you. And if I don't tell someone I think I'll go mad with it—"

By Virginia Hanson

With a real effort I interrupted her there.

"No!" I told her. "You mustn't trust me. You don't know what I've just done to Julia—and Jeff." She looked at me strangely for a moment.

"But you don't know what I have done to Julia and Jeff," she said more quietly. "It's all my fault, the whole thing. I suppose you mean they're in love with one another. I've tried not to know it. I've told myself that Jeff really loved Sandra, and that Julia was just a child, that she would outgrow him. But I've always known, in spite of myself."

She paused, her eyes desperately searching my face.

"I'm going to tell you anyway," she said at last. "I've lived with it so long, and there's been no one I could talk to. I won't ask you to keep what I say confidential. I'll trust you. Only—only just let me talk to you."

She sounded terribly shaken. I nodded. It would have taken more resolution than I had to refuse to listen.

Voting Light At New London

About 70 Per Cent of 807 Votes in Primary Go in G.O.P. Column

New London—New London voters leaned stronger toward the Republicans than ever in a light primary vote yesterday, approximately 70 per cent of a total of 807 voters choosing the G.O.P. ticket. In 1928 about half the 726 ballots were Republican.

The Progressives ran a weak second and the Democrats drew about three-fourths as many.

Despite the large number of candidates, the light vote made counting a quick job and the last precinct reported to county offices at 9:45.

Mrs. Charles Palmer replaced Mrs. A. G. Van Alstine as chairman of election in the Third ward precinct. Mrs. Van Alstine was ineligible to serve as her name was on the ballots for Democratic committeeewoman.

The vote by wards: First 179, Second 76, Third 176, Fourth 255, Fifth 111. In the largest ward, as a representative comparison, the three parties ranked as follows: Republican 196, Progressive 41, Democratic 28. The Democrats as usual ran best in the First ward with 30 tickets to 33 for the Progressives and 112 for the Republicans.

Want Motorboats Off Lake in Hunting Season

Manawa—A petition, circulated and signed by sportsmen throughout Waupaca county providing that motorboats be prohibited from White Lake during the hunting season, will be presented to the town board of Royalton within the next few days. For a number of years motorboats have interfered with hunting at the lake and have also destroyed duck feed, sportsmen contend, and number feel that the curtailment of motors will benefit all hunters—as well as the ducks.

The test of the petition follows. "Whereas, it has been a custom the past few years of running motorboats on White Lake during hunting season, and whereas, this is a great menace to wild duck life and also destroying the duck feed in the lake.

"Therefore, we, the undersigned sportsmen, interested in maintaining the wild life on White Lake, petition your honorable body, the town of

3rd Term Confuses Issue of Strong Power in Washington

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER

Washington—Wendell Willkie is fearful of what he describes as the "desperate concentration of power" at Washington during the last two terms. His alarms would be less pertinent if President Roosevelt had not given them point by manipulating a third-term nomination for himself.

The piling up of strong power at Washington is likely to continue whether the next president is Roosevelt or Willkie. It is the personalizing of this power in the prolonged tenure of one man that is the most disturbing.

Out on his campaign swing, Willkie may think he could make government a simple one-horse affair again. But if he became president, he would be driven as Roosevelt has been, to the same course. Conditions would do it, just as conditions have caused Willkie to endorse peacetime conscription which is certainly another concentration of power if there ever was one.

Through-out his Coffeyville speech, Willkie displayed a longing for the simpler days when government was a remote incident and not a protruding presence in our every-day lives. Willkie appeared to think that simple and weak government had disappeared because of some kind of moral decay in America. He campaigned for the virtues that are taught in childhood . . . how to get along with others . . . gratitude . . . fair play . . . competition within the rules of the game . . . the meaning of companionship . . . the meaning of self-reliance. The essays of Ralph Waldo Emerson are still healthful reading but they are not blue-prints for the machinery government must have today.

Willkie said the lessons of childhood were the preparation for democracy. They were and still are. Modern parents are still trying to pound those standards into the hard little heads of their children, with the same percentage of failure, no doubt, that earlier generations of parents endured.

Without those standards it is difficult for any society to live, and especially a democratic society.

But it wasn't because people had lost their childhood virtues that Herbert Hoover was driven to set up the R.F.C. and thus forward by a large measure, the massing of power in Washington. It wasn't because those virtues were gone that millions of idle walked the streets. It wasn't because those virtues were gone that Hoover's successor, Roosevelt, had to go further in concentrating power here. The demands for old age pensions, for collective bargaining protection, for stock market control, for development of TVA, and for the farm relief which Willkie promises to continue, did not arise out of decaying morals or loss of self-reliance. There always have been more men than jobs at the mill gates.

The stagnation which has plagued this country for a decade began not under Roosevelt but under Hoover when private enterprise was ruling the roost and no new dealers were prowling around. Those not interested in partisan debate will suspect that our trouble has arisen from something more fundamental than wrong-headed actions by Hoover or Roosevelt. Private capitalism is sick and everybody knows it but it isn't supposed to be diplomatic to admit it. We are edging into state socialism because we are driven into it and we will be going in deeper before we get through, whether the next president be Roosevelt or Willkie.

Royalton to pass a law prohibiting the use of motorboats on White Lake during the hunting season, which will give all an equal chance."

Manawa Students Leave for Schools

Manawa—While September always brings new life to the village with the enrollment of so many high school students, the advent of autumn also finds numerous young people taking leave to enroll in other institutions to continue their educations.

Rolland Handrich, Bill Sebald and Jack Seering are planning to enroll at the University of Wisconsin at Madison, where the former will be a junior and the latter two freshmen. Miss Jeanette Melkielejohn, who completed a four-year course in the home economics department at the university last June, has enrolled in the University hospital,

Iowa City, Iowa, to serve a year's internship.

Among those enrolled at Central State Teachers college at Stevens Point are Jeanette Rich, Ruth Lindsay, Marjorie Stevens, Eileen Artz, Keith Gehrke and Harold Jawort, while Rolland Hahn, Clarence Sadowsky, Les Miller, Les Ernst, Tom Garrity, Bob Herman, Margaret Karpinsky, Muriel Kriesel, Marian Ferg and Mark Fitzgerald are students at Oshkosh State Teachers college.

After attending Marquette university for two years, Arthur Sturm Jr., has transferred to Valparaiso (Ind.) university this year. Donald Fitzgerald left Manawa Tuesday for Columbia, Mo., where he will commence his second year at the University of Missouri.

Three Manawa students are attending Oshkosh Business college, Paul Gartzke, Velda Handrich and Len Behnke, while Nelda Wohlrahe and Geraldine Hill are beginning their second year at Illinois Masonic hospital, Chicago. Others who have chosen nursing are Sarah Van Adestine, Mercy hospital, Oshkosh, and Velda Ferg, Evangelical Deaconess hospital, Milwaukee. Esther Smith and Lorene Gehrke have enrolled in the Wisconsin Accredited Beauty school, Milwaukee.

Tigers, Yanks Are Winners

Detroit Is Back at Top Of Circuit

BY JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The daily bulletins on the American league's feverish pennant fight are about as informative as these that hospitals give out on patients—like "condition unchanged" or "resting comfortably."

There is nothing anybody can do about it, though, because nobody in the world right now knows which of the American league patients are going to live and which are going to die.

The Detroit Tigers triumphed again yesterday and exchanged places at the top of the league with the Cleveland Indians, who lost. The New York Yankees ended a losing streak to move up 3½ games from first place and the Chicago White Sox were idle.

Out of this jumble anything can happen. Here is the way they stand:

W. L. Pct. B'd Play
Detroit 62 60 .577 12
Cleveland 62 61 .573 11
New York 73 63 .553 31
Chicago 78 65 .545 41

The victories of the Tigers and Yankees were somewhat marred, because Schoolboy Rowe, while getting credit for his fifteenth victory, developed shoulder trouble and retired before Detroit finished a 6-3 triumph over the Washington Senators, and Joe DiMaggio of the world champions hurt his game leg again as the world champions wilted the St. Louis Browns 9-0.

Rowe said his trouble wasn't serious and he would be able to go again after a few days rest. Others of the Tigers were less certain. Without the Schoolboy, Detroit is due to find a lot of difficulty on the pennant trail. Catcher Bill Sullivan also split a finger on his throwing hand yesterday, but expected to be ready for call when needed.

Di Maggio Retires
DiMaggio acquired a charley horse and dropped out in the second inning at St. Louis after driving in three runs. He hoped to be ready to return to duty today, but wasn't sure.

All the American league contenders were booked for doubleheaders today and needed their full strength desperately.

Cleveland's only casualty was its 4-3 loss to the last place Philadelphia Athletics. Bill Beckman kept the Tribe checked on nine hits and the A's squeezed through with the same number off four Indian hurriers.

Detroit outlasted 7-6, and held scoreless after the third inning, but a four-run sendoff in the first was all the Tigers ever needed. Rudy York's 29th homer with one on was surplus.

In the National league the Cincinnati Reds came within a single game of clinching their second straight pennant with Whitey Moore pitching five-hit ball they edged out the Philadelphia Phillies 2-1 to take an 11-game lead over the Brooklyn Dodgers, who were shutout, 5-0 by the St. Louis Cardinals and have only 11 contests left to play.

The Chicago Cubs put on a six-run uprising in the eighth inning and beat New York's 9-8 to extend the Giants' losing streak to nine games. In the big blow, Hank Leiber homered with two on and Manager Gabby Hartnett delivered a pinch double with the bases loaded.

Boston's Bees copped a free-throwing battle from the Pittsburgh Pirates 10-5 by means of a four-run flurry in the first frame and another five-run roundhouse in the eighth.

Women's Afternoon Elks League Formed

Mrs. Dixie Stark has been named president of the Happy-Go-Lucky bowling league, a 10-team women's circuit which will roll at Elks alley, Friday afternoons this season. Mrs. Alice Gerharz is vice secretary-treasurer and Mrs. Ann Bloomer, sergeant-at-arms. Initial matches are scheduled for 1:45 Friday afternoon, Sept. 27.

Badger Coach Is Dissatisfied

Stuhldreher Says Gridders Will Have To Show Improvement

Madison—(AP)—University of Wisconsin gridmen will have to improve their performances if they expect to satisfy their Coach Harry Stuhldreher.

The Badger coach said he was dissatisfied with the showing of two picked backfields during the squad's second scrimmage of the year yesterday.

One quarter, composed of Tennant at quarterback, Miller and Seelinger at halves, and Paskvan at full, showed real strength at the start but faded later. Seelinger, a sophomore, and Paskvan, a senior, broke away for several long runs.

The other backfield, manned by Farris Rav. Hoskins and Schraack, managed to push over two touchdowns under the direction of quarterback Farris.

Stuhldreher shifted the personnel of his lines continuously, using sophomores freely.

Today's Guest Star
Lynn C. Doyle, Philadelphia Evening Bulletin: "The World's series will begin Oct. 2. . . . But right now when Joe McCarthy should be naming his starting pitcher, President Haridge can't even name his starting team."

Non-Stop Hitter
Philly fans are very high on Danny Litwhiler, the young outfielder who until yesterday had hit safely in 21 consecutive games. . . . Another report that Babe Ruth had dropped dead playing golf swept the city yesterday and had newspaper offices checking feverishly.

Reds More Confident
The Reds are out to make a better showing in this year's series. In announcing that reservations for tickets will be accepted, the front office says: "Games 1, 2 and 6 are scheduled in Cincinnati."

Playing for 'Uncle Lou'

Coming Through for Man Who Died Firm in Belief He Had Winner

BY EARL HILLIGAN

Chicago—(AP)—James J. Dykes and his Chicago White Sox are coming through for a man who died believing he had built the nucleus for a championship-contending team—"Uncle Lou" Comiskey.

"Uncle Lou" was J. Louis Comiskey, who died a little more than a year ago after directing for eight years the baseball club founded by his illustrious father, Charles A. (The Old Roman) Comiskey.

Unlike his father, who was a famous player, Lou never competed on the diamond, but he had the family love of the game, plus a gambling instinct which prompted him to pay $150,000 for three players back in 1932. One of them was a third baseman named Dykes—and from that deal can be dated the upsurge of a club which now is playing an important part of the hectic American league race and is only 4½ games out of the lead.

"We have a scrappy, interesting club now," said Lou one day late in 1937, when the White Sox finished third, "and someday soon I think the team will surprise everyone by taking the flag."

Seventh Year at Helm
Dykes, now in his seventh year as White Sox pilot, has done a remarkable job with his material. There isn't a single expensive piece of "ivory" on his club, yet the team plays the kind of ball which fairly drips "goose." The White Sox pennant chase may be remote with only 11 games remaining on the schedule, yet they can't be laughed off. Not in view of a two-weeks rush which saw the club win 15 of 19 games, eight of them in a row, and pick up some seven and one-half games on the Cleveland Indians.

Last February, the probate court denied a request from the First National bank, executor of the Comiskey estate, for permission to sell the club on the ground that baseball was a "hazardous business." From Dykes on down to the bat boy, the White Sox all agree it's "hazardous" so far as a pennant is concerned. From an attendance standpoint it hasn't been as risky this season. Right now the Sox home attendance matches the 600,000 figure hung up through the 1939 season.

Cedar Rapids Takes Edge in 3-1 Playoff

Cedar Rapids, Iowa.—(AP)—Cedar Rapids, already the pennant winner in the Three Eye league, can add the playoff title to its honors with a victory over Decatur, tonight in the final series.

The Raiders lead the final series now, two games to one, and need only one more to take the honors. Cedar Rapids knocked Decatur's Bill Yarewicz out of the box last night with a three-run spurge in the eighth inning which gave the Raiders a 4 to 1 victory. Red Embree held the Commies to a single run in the third inning and only five hits all the way.

They're Real Badgers

Madison—The 1940 University of Wisconsin gridiron squad is predominantly a product of "America's Dairyland." Twenty nine of Coach Harry Stuhldreher's squad of 48 claim cities in Wisconsin as their homes. Illinois furnishes the Badgers with eleven candidates, Iowa follows with two, with Nebraska, South Dakota, New York, Michigan, Pennsylvania, and Montana each having one representative.

BUMPS FOR THE UMP'S—When Umpire George Magerkurth called Cincinnati runners safe in the tenth inning of a game in Brooklyn, this irate fan, booked by police on an assault charge as Frank Germano, 21, took personal offense and did something about it. Magerkurth, who weighs about 225 pounds, is on the bottom here. Germano weighs about 200. Magerkurth was rescued by his umpiring colleagues.

Fan Who Slugged Magerkurth Found to be Parole Violator

New York—The Brooklyn Dodger-Cincinnati game riot in Brooklyn yesterday had the following repercussions today:

(1) Leo Durocher, manager of the Dodgers, was fined $100 and suspended five days by President Ford Erick of the National league "for prolonged discussion and conduct inciting to riot."

(2) Frankie Germano, irate Dodger fan who jumped from the stands and assaulted Umpire George Magerkurth, whose tenth inning decision led to the Dodgers' defeat, was discovered to be a parole violator and was returned to the state reformatory until next Jan. 12.

Magistrate George Folwell today said he would dismiss the case if Germano would plead guilty to simple assault.

"Nix," said pugnacious Frankie, "I know my rights." At that moment he stepped a parole officer with an order for Frankie's return to the reformatory. It appears Frankie had been released only a year ago on good behavior and had until next year to serve for a petty larceny conviction.

"Well, that's a horse of another color and one on you, Frankie," said the magistrate—himself an old Dodger fan—as he sadly turned Frankie over to the officer.

Chiefs Strengthened With 2 Stellar Ends

Milwaukee—(AP)—The Milwaukee Chiefs, fresh from Sunday's scalping of the Columbus Bullies, American pro league defending champs, yesterday added new blood to the team with the signing of two hefty ends.

The wingmen, Keith Ramsport and Joel Mason, were released recently from the Chicago Cardinals. Ramsport is 6 feet 3½ inches and weighs 215 pounds. Mason is 205 pounds and has run the century in 97 seconds. Last year he was considered second to Hutson in speed in the National league.

Coach Tiny Cahoon drilled his squad in punting and passing yesterday in preparation for next Sunday's league game at Buffalo.

Marie Council Heads Goodfellowship Loop

Marie Council was elected president of the Y. M. C. A. Women's Goodfellowship bowling league at an organization meeting at the Y this week. Hazel Getschow is vice president, Margie Doecker, treasurer, and Virginia Schommer, secretary. Six teams applied for berths in the circuit but it was decided to limit the loop to four squads as in the last three years. The league will roll on Friday

Blues, Birds Drop Openers

Toss Ace Pitchers Against Underdogs In Playoff Tilts

By the Associated Press

Pennant-winning Kansas City and second place Columbus tossed their ace pitchers against the opposition last night in the opening of the Shaughnessy playoffs, but it was just so much lost effort.

Minneapolis' third-place club banged out a 5 to 2 victory over the Blues and fourth-place Louisville brushed the Red Birds aside, 5 to 4.

Don Hendrickson started for Kansas City but failed to last two innings, giving way to John Lindell, who also was sent to the showers by the Millers' 10-hit attack. Each club scored two runs in the first inning, Minneapolis adding two more in the second and their final run on Lin Storti's homer in the third.

Walter Tauscher held the Blues to seven hits and scoreless after the opening frame to give the club a one-game edge in the playoff semifinals.

At Columbus, Murry Dickson went the route but the Colonels solved him for 10 hits, including Art Parks' fourth-inning home run, one of three tallies in that inning. The Red Birds bounced back to tie the score at 4-all in the seventh, but Louisville pushed across the deciding run in the eighth on Ed Sington's double and an error by Bob Repass.

Bear Scouts Watched Bays

Chicagoans Had Small Army on Hand at Tilt With Eagles Sunday

Green Bay—Those big bad Bears of Chicagoland are missing no bets in preparing for their National league clash with the Green Bay Packers here Sunday afternoon at City stadium.

Last Sunday, while the Packers were defeating the Philadelphia Eagles by 27 to 20, the Bears had a small army of scouts in the stands. The espionage corps consisted of Coaches George Halas, Hunk Anderson and Luke Johnsoes, along with 20 of the team's players.

President Carl L. Storck of the National league office will be among the interested spectators at this game here Sunday. A capacity crowd is anticipated, and all records for attendance at football games in Green Bay probably will be broken. Game time is 2 o'clock.

Officials for the game include John B. Kelly, Loyola, referee; Ed Cochrane, Missouri, umpire; Robert Karch, Ohio, head linesman; and Fred Young, Bloomington, field judge.

Eggs Manske, the veteran of three brilliant varsity years, is one of the trouble-making ends on the Chicago eleven. Also playing end with a vengeance are Dick Plaman, former Vanderbilt captain, and John Siegal, three-letter winner at Columbia.

A name familiar to all Packers fans is Joe Stydhar, tackle from West Virginia. Sid Luckman, halfback from Columbia, and Ray Nitting, halfback from Cincinnati, are other Bears who have earned tribute from Packer followers. Bill Osmanski, youthful fullback who was named the most valuable player by the 1939 College All-Stars, also will be in the lineup.

Another fullback who demands respect is Gary Famiglietti, who came from Boston university. Joe Maniaci, halfback from Fordham who played his first professional football with the Brooklyn Dodgers, also "bears" watching.

Indiana's Punting Star Is Coming Along as Ball Toter

Chicago—(AP)—Bo McMillin discovered last season that Harold Hursh was a hand man to have around when the going got tough for his Indiana Hoosiers.

Hursh was Indiana's star punter and passer through the 1939 grid season and the word is out now that the Middletown, Ohio, boy is coming along rapidly as a ball carrier. The senior halfback was the Big Ten's most successful passer last fall and had few peers at place-punting.

If he can deliver as a runner with a punch, the Indiana attack will be vastly more deceptive when Hursh is in the backfield and in addition make his passing more effective.

Other candidates also have developed to such an extent that they can relieve Hursh of some of his chores occasionally. Al Rucinski has stood out as a punter and Earl Doloway, Mickey McGuire and Dale Swihart have shown proficiency at passing.

Down at Lafayette, Mal Elward is striving for speed in the Purdue attack to overcome inexperience and scarcity of top-flight candidates. . . . The passing of Bryan Brock, sophomore brother of Lou, and the all-around play of Hal Schumacker, fullback, has featured the Boilermaker workhorses.

Held up a week by a summer job, Duane Fultz, Springfield, Ill., senior tackle, reported yesterday to Bob Zupke of Illinois. . . . The Illini will drill only once a day hereafter. . . . Northwestern holds its final double session this afternoon. . . . backs are idle at Northwestern because of minor injuries.

Bill Green is receiving lots of attention from Iowa coaches as a possibility for left halfback. . . . The Hawkeye star is concentrating on improving his passes. . . . Coach Francis Schmidt is satisfied that Claude White, 196-pound center, is capable of filling the center spot left vacant by the graduation of Steve Andrako, Ohio State star of 1939. . . . Paul Sweeney has the inside track for the blocking back spot vacated by Frank Zadowny. . . . Paul Kromer, Michigan blocking back, out last season with a bad knee, became scholastically eligible yesterday. . . . After a long and hard scrimmage yesterday, Coach Bernie Bierman said he couldn't tell the fourth Minnesota team from the varsity. George Paskvan, Wisconsin's sturdy fullback, ripped off 60 yards on a touchdown jaunt in yesterday's scrimmage, second of the practice season.

Northern State Teams to Clash

Second Game of Title Series Scheduled at Green Bay Jays Field

Green Bay—Sunday will be a homecoming so far as baseball is concerned for four members of the Seymour team who formerly played with the Green Sox when this city held a franchise in the Northern State league.

Shorty Zuidmilder, first sacker; Elmer Jacobs, second base; Norm Clusman, guardian of the redlight station and Don Simons, pitcher, played with the Bays many years and they should be right at home at Joannes park, which is now the home of the Bluejays, Green Bay's entry in the Wisconsin State league, a daily ball organization.

The baseball game between Seymour and Manitowish, the second of a series for the league championship, will be played in the morning at 10 o'clock and should be over long before the whistle blows at 2 p. m. for the football fracas between the Chicago Bears and Green Bay Packers, who have been bitter gridiron enemies for years. The baseball lot is only a stone's throw from the football stadium.

Seymour lost the first game of the championship series to the Shipbuilders at Manitowish last Sunday 2-1. If the Ships triumph this weekend it is all over but the shouting. However a win by Seymour would even the count and make a third contest necessary on Sunday, Sept. 29.

Louder of Marinette Will Have Grid Team

Marinette, Wis.—Resuming the sport after a lapse of several years, Our Lady of Lourdes High school of Marinette has arranged a five game grid schedule under Coach Sam Kresky and is negotiating for another tilt against St. Norbert's prep.

A squad of 24 men has been working out for the past week and the Lourdes eleven, dubbed the "Irish," will travel to Escanaba, Mich., next Saturday to meet St. Joseph's in its opening fracas. Following that tussle Lourdes will face Oconto, Peshtigo, Keneshaw and St. John's of Little Chute in the order named.

HOW MANY TIMES EACH WINTER DOES THIS HAPPEN TO YOU?

A lot of dirty work is ahead to clean out the furnace and build a new fire.

A STOKOL automatic coal stoker will put a stop to all this and all the other work of tending the furnace as well. It actually takes charge of the furnace, feeds the coal at just the right time, keeps the house at an even temperature day or night. With STOKOL there are no grates to shake, no soot, no smoke, no ashes. And a STOKOL fire never goes out. With a little attention once a day your women folk never need to worry about a STOKOL fire.

Investigate STOKOL for this winter's heat. It will give you more and better heat for less money. Adaptable to your present heating plant. Moderately priced. 3 years to pay.

East Rounding Into Shape for Appleton Tilt

Fox Valley Squads In Opener Friday Night at Green Bay

Green Bay — Moving the ball fairly well on offense and showing a sound defense, East Green Bay is rapidly rounding into shape for its Fox Valley conference opener against Appleton at City stadium Friday night. Coach Tom Hearden, however, is withholding comment on the possibilities of his Red Devils until he sees them under fire against the Terrers.

Guards Are Puzzle
The guards are a puzzle, although Leonard Gorall and Jim Ryan are getting the edge on the left side, and Kenneth Stevo and George Lockman on the right. Leonard Roznoski is the best of the centers. He weighs only 135 pounds, but is a fine backer-up of the line and may develop into another George Walters.

George Hoffel and George Maloney are sharing duties at blocking quarterback, and the left half assignments are being taken principally by Sylvester Nelson, Paul Deschic and John Fonferke.

Hearden finds Don Tilkens a much improved player at right half. Tilkens couldn't run in anything but a straight line last season, but now he is cutting well and looks capable of a lot of work. Joe Schott also is drawing attention at the position.

Bob Herliche is the No. 1 full-back, although he is getting competition from Bob Netol. Hearden will stress defense most of this week, getting his team set for what he knows of Appleton's plays. The Terrers have not played yet, and thus have not been scouted which means that the East coach is working in the dark.

Stick to Fundamentals
"We'll stick pretty close to fundamentals for a while yet," he commented. "I can't comment much on the boys until they've had a chance to work under game conditions. We have one or two who may surprise, and the team has a nice spirit."

Officials for the Friday game here will be E. J. Schneider, referee; Allen Davey, umpire; and George Hotchkiss, linesman. All are of Oshkosh.

East High enters its 18th season of conference activity with an all-time Valley percentage of .841. Since 1923 the Red Devils have won 90 games, lost 17 and tied two, scoring 2,190 points while holding their opponents to 394.

Neenah—Captain Julius Holtz of the Winnebago county highway police patrol was nominated for sheriff, defeating five other candidates, and James C. Fritzen, Neenah, incumbent, won the nomination for assemblyman from the Second district in the Republican party ticket in the primaries Tuesday.

While Fritzen and his opponent, Eugene Flagg, town of Oshkosh, staged a nip and tuck race, the former holding only a 438-vote margin in the 29 precincts, Holtz swept over his nearest opponent, Harry Krippner, Oshkosh, leading him by 1,799 votes.

Carrying 38 precincts out of 45, Holtz polled 6,282 votes to Krippner's 4,483, and he will oppose Joseph Cater, Oshkosh, who drew 1,846 votes while unopposed for the Democratic nomination, in the November election. Fritzen piled up 2,689 ballots against Flagg's 2,251, but he carried only 13 of the 29 district precincts. Fritzen, however, accumulated an imposing lead over his opponent in Neenah and Menasha, drawing 1,295 votes, including 884 in Neenah and 411 in Menasha, while Flagg received 895 in the Twin Cities, getting 436 from Menasha and 359 from Neenah.

Holtz Gets Support
Holtz, too, received a large number of ballots from the Twin Cities, including 521 from Menasha and 919 from Neenah, while Krippner got only 689 from both cities, 517 from Menasha and 182 from Neenah.

Fritzen will oppose James F. Grimes, town of Menasha, in the November election, Grimes having won the Democratic nomination without opposition, drawing 1,197 votes. He received 992 votes from the Twin Cities. He also received 880 votes from the town of Menasha.

All other candidates were nominated without opposition, and five are assured of election, having no opposition at all. These five, all of whom are on the Republican ticket, are: only one with a full slate of candidates for county offices, are Arthur E. Hedke, county clerk; Earl E. Fuller, county treasurer; George B. Young, register of deeds; Edward C. Abell, clerk of courts, and Dr. G. A. Steele, coroner.

In the November election, Lewis C. Magnusen, who polled 8,895 votes yesterday, will seek reelection to the district attorney post on the Republican ticket, opposing Howard E. Bloom, Neenah attorney, Progressive party candidate who drew 1,438 votes yesterday.

A. E. McMahon, Menasha, incumbent, will oppose Robert F. Wolverson, Oshkosh, for county surveyor in the fall election. Both were unopposed for nomination yesterday. McMahon, who is the Menasha city engineer, drawing 1,982 votes on the Democratic ticket, and Wolverson polling 9,958 on the Republican ticket.

All Unopposed
Large confidence votes were given Hedke, 10,370, Fuller, 10,432, Young, 10,840, Abell, 11,010, and Steele, 10,922.

After returns from the first 20 precincts were reported last night, Holtz had acquired an imposing lead over his opponents, and he increased the margin with practically each ward's returns. Votes polled by the other candidates included Oakley Colby, Oshkosh, 419; Carl Essinger, Omro, 283; Arthur Nelson, Oshkosh, 1,780; and Joseph Binder, Oshkosh, 1,005.

Leo T. Niemi, Oshkosh, incumbent, won the nomination for assemblyman from the First district on the Republican ticket, defeating Charles A. Weichering, Oshkosh, the former polling 5,248 votes to the latter's 2,483. Harold H. Prieb, Oshkosh, won the Democratic and Progressive nominations, drawing 1,898 votes while unopposed. He received 909 Democratic votes and 989 Progressive ballots.

Zephyrs to Open League Season With Keshena

St. Mary's Gridders Seek Fourth Straight Catholic League Title

Menasha—St. Mary's High school gridders will start the quest for their fourth straight Fox Valley Catholic conference football championship Saturday when they travel to Keshena to meet the St. Joseph Indian school team.

The Zephyrs started their current string of grid championships in 1937 when they defeated St. John's of Little Chute 7 to 0 and St. Norbert High school 26 to 6. In 1938 the Zephyrs defeated St. John's twice 13 to 0 and 6 to 0 and the St. Norbert team 26 to 0 and 26 to 6.

Last year the Zephyrs defeated the St. Joseph team 27 to 7, St. Norbert 6 to 0, and pounced on St. John's of Little Chute for a 38 to 0 victory. In each of the last three years the Zephyrs have had one touchdown scored against them a season by conference opponents.

The Indians did the trick last year against a reserve lineup. The Keshena school participated in the Fox Valley Catholic conference for the first time and managed to hold the St. John's team to a 0 to 0 tie late in the season.

Practice at Greens

The Zephyrs have shifted their practice field to the Greens back of the Laemmrich Funeral home. They were ordered off Jefferson park and then given permission to use the north end of the baseball park. They were asked to move to the Seventh street field by the park board but found the Greens better suited for practice.

Several of the Zephyrs were bruised in the opening game last Sunday night. Bob Birling, veteran guard, received a leg injury but probably will be ready for action. The rest of the squad also will be ready. The Zephyrs will come in for several sessions on pass defense this week as the St. Benedict squad set up one touchdown on passes and scored the winning marker on a pass.

Winnebago County Supports Heil Candidacy for Governor

Neenah—In a light primary ballot Tuesday, Winnebago county Republicans gave their support to Governor Julius P. Heil and other incumbent state officers with one exception. That exception was for state treasurer, where George Greeley, Oshkosh, outnumbered John M. Smith, the incumbent, by a wide margin.

The county vote was predominantly Republican with 12,350 votes on that ticket in the governor race to 2,744 for the Democrats and 2,390 for Progressives.

Fred H. Clausen was backed with 4,858 votes for United States senator while Congressman Frank B. Keefe, Oshkosh, unopposed for re-nomination on the Republican slate, polled 10,120. There were 1,288 votes cast for Glenn Frank, who was killed in an automobile accident Sunday. Koehler received 2,007, Eberlein 1,724, Peterson 1,355, Mas 681 and Chilsen 465.

Governor Heil more than doubled the total of his Republican opponent and nearly doubled the combined Democrat and Progressive totals. He received 9,324 votes to 4,026 for Robinson. Lieutenant Governor Walter S. Goodland received 8,242 votes to 2,280 for Royston P. Wardle and 1,720 for Alvin E. O'Konsky.

Zimmerman Strong
Fred R. Zimmerman, secretary of state, received 1,171 votes to 3,115 for Bernhard Gettelman. In the treasurer race Greeley received 5,210 votes and was trailed by Smith with 2,319, Roberts 1,816 and Wilkinson 1,658. Attorney General John E. Martin received 6,584 votes to 3,551 for William H. Markham.

County Republicans backed Fred H. Clausen for United States Senator. He received 4,858 votes to 2,007 for Koehler, 1,724 for Michael G. Eberlein, Shawano, 1,355 for Reuben W. Peterson, 681 for William Mas, and 465 for Walter B. Chilsen. The late Glenn Frank polled 2,007 votes.

The Democratic governor results, in Winnebago county showed McGovern 1,067, Callahan 982, Hagedorn 398 and Cannon 330. John Lawrie led John Rinkler, Jr. for state treasurer, 1,168 to 1,067. Joseph Hardgrove led in the congressional race with 1,210 votes to 951 for Jacob Fessler. Three Democrats were unopposed. They were Morley Kelly, Fond du Lac, 2,234 votes for lieutenant governor; Gustave J. Keller, Appleton, 2,162 votes for attorney general; and Julius G. Seyfert, 2,006 votes for secretary of state.

116 For Cudahy
James E. Finnegan led three opponents for the Democratic nomination.

Menasha Homemakers Hear Milwaukee Fashion Expert

Menasha—Tuck in your tummy and streamline your waist, be honest but flatter your type, buy a hat when you need a lift and content yourself with the fact that fashion is what you buy and style is that which you give that makes you wear it. Mrs. Matilda Mayer Truzy, Milwaukee store hostess, advised in an address on "Fitting the Fashion to Form" at the first of five general meetings of Menasha Homemakers under the auspices of the Menasha School of Adult and Vocational Education. About 60 homemakers attended.

The November meeting will feature a speaker who will discuss interior decorating, the January meeting will be devoted to a lecture on family relationship and the March meeting, food, and nutrition. The May meeting will be on consumer problems.

Group meetings from the larger unit are scheduled to begin in October. About 20 women will make up each group. Discussions will center on special interests of the group. Miss Horn pointed out.

Mrs. Truzy emphasized that to be well groomed, women must take exceptional care to "fit the fashion to the form" not only in clothes, shoes, hats, but in hair styles and in accessory equipment to a costume. Mrs. Truzy discussed materials, colors, styles as well as suggestions for the various figures.

S. E. Crockett, director of the Menasha vocational school, welcomed the women and discussed the homemaker club project, an educational program being conducted throughout the state under auspices of vocational schools.

Mrs. R. J. O'Keefe, and Mrs. Frank Brocken presented musical vocal selections during the program. Mrs. H. J. C. Rosenow was accompanist.

During the tea which followed the program, Mrs. Waldo Friedland and Mrs. Ed Scrovnoski presided at the tea table. Fall vegetables were used as the table decorations with halves of summer squash serving as candle holders and other vegetables grouped together for a centerpiece.

Movie Land Its People and Products

HERE'S PERSONALITY—The latest portrait of Ginger Rogers, versatile dynamo of the movies, shows her in vibrant mood. Having just finished the romantic comedy "Lucky Partners," she is ready to star as the Christopher Morley heroine, "Kitty Foyle."

By Jimmie Fidler

Hollywood — The Sayle Taylors (Voice of Experience) will add a new voice to their household in March... Hear tell Mrs. Donahue, who has millions, is frowning on son Woolworth's romance with Hedy Lamarr. For two people who supposedly don't care, Alice has and a girl... Tony Martin are sharing a lot of telephone time.

Are Dorothy Lamour and Paramount rehearsing for a contract rift? Bing Crosby will continue radio-singing regardless of who wins the ASCAP-BMI fight, the story that he would quit if ASCAP lost was not his own... Tala Birell and Wim Cowan, director of her NY show, are headed for the altar... Gene Autry will top-line the Madison Square Garden rodeo in October... Joan Mer-shall, dancer in the Al Johnson show, is helping Al extinguish his torch... Arthur Hornblow, Myrna Loy's husband, is out of the hospital after a tussle with a sleep throb.

Vivien Leigh and Laurence Olivier are planning adoption of two British refugee babies, a boy and a girl... Brenda Marshall and Bill Holden have set plans to wed the minute she sets her final... Ha! There are now nineteen kittens at the Gable-Lombard ranch, in case you need a pet... Shirley Temple has enrolled for ballet lessons at the Belcher Academy... Sonja Henie and Dan Topping have had their first words — but made up before gossip got wind of it... Wet is this about Lionel Stander deserting Hollywood and Broadway to open a night club in Mexico? No matter what else you may hear, Garbo is reading a NY stage play script and if she likes it, will star in it... Is Alfred Dreyfus buying the Brooklyn Dodgers, as pals believe?

LAUGH OF THE WEEK: Spencer Tracy's story about a one-time matinee idol now down and out, who stopped a big shot director at a night club entrance. "I haven't had a bite of food for a week," he confided. "Can you spare a penny for old time's sake?" The director, horrified to see a former star fallen so low, cried, "But my goodness, man, you need more than a penny to buy food!" The actor pulled himself up proudly. "Who said anything about food?" he demanded. "I want to get weighed!"

PREVIEW NIGHTS: Pic of the week: "Strike Up the Band," a melodic masterpiece in which Mickey Rooney and Judy Garland score ten — strikes, especially at serious minging. Mickey's jitterbug drumming alone is worth the price of a ticket... Rate as A-1 entertainment... "City of Conquest" in which Jimmy Cagney's fight scenes vie with Ann Sheridan's curves for top excitement honors... "Yesterday's Heroes," 20th Century-Fox's opening kick-off for the 1940 screen piknik season, is fast fun, particularly commendable because its hero DOES NOT win the game in the last minute of play.

ONE MAN'S OPINION: That Hollywood studios' wholesale hiring of foreign refugees to fill writing, acting, executive and other posts — thus eliminating good Americans from these jobs — will eventually kick back with an explosion that will be heard across the nation and will rock the film industry as no other single mistake ever did before.

Neenah Gridders To Scrimmage at Kimberly Tonight
Neenah—Coach George Christoph will take his squad of Neenah High school football players to Kimberly tonight for a practice scrimmage with Kimberly high school gridmen under the arc lights.

The Red Rockets are preparing for their opening game of the season, a Northwestern Wisconsin conference conflict at Clintonville Friday night. The game will be played beneath lights, so Christoph is giving his players a chance to get used to the area as well as get in a scrimmage drill with Kimberly.

Christoph has been drilling his crew hard this week to get in shape for the season's curtain raiser. He will be assigning an experienced squad against the Truckers, for he has 16 letters on from whom to choose his starting eleven. The Truckers, who scored their only victory last season from Neenah, also have an experienced squad with eight lettermen bolstering the line-up.

Two Cars Damaged in Collision at Menasha

Menasha — Cars driven by Mrs. John Altenhofen, 757 Jefferson street, and Lloyd Laird, 516 Broad street, collided at Seventh and DePere streets at 9:35 this morning. Police Chief Alex Slomski reported. The left front fender and headlight of the Altenhofen car and both doors and running board of the Laird car were damaged.

There are 46 candidates for citizenship, including seven from Menasha two from Neenah, and one from Kaukauna. The examinations will be conducted by William E. Lemke of the naturalization and immigration bureau.

Charles Buck Named Stamp Club President

Menasha — Charles Buck, Jr. has been elected president of the Stamp club of St. Mary's High school. Other officers are Agnes Boehnlein, vice president; and Gerald Huelbeck, secretary. The club meets every two weeks to exchange stamps and discuss stamp news. Sister Mary Paredes has charge of the club which was organized seven years ago by the Rev. Joseph A. Becker.

Personal Injury Suit Settled Out of Court

(Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau)
Oshkosh—The $7,500 personal injury suit, brought by Miss Helen Arnold, 233 W. Parkway, Appleton, against Theodore Krueger and Miss Irene Zick, both of Oshkosh, was settled out of court yesterday after testimony was taken both Monday and yesterday in circuit court here. The amount of settlement was not announced. The suit resulted from an accident at the intersection of Mill and Waugon streets in Oshkosh on August 26, 1938.

Robert St. Peter, 859 DePere street, Menasha, underwent a minor operation this morning at Theda Clark hospital.

Look Who's Telling Unions to Clean Out Grifters, Racketeers

BY WESTBROOK AEGLER

New York—I take as my text that portion of President Roosevelt's speech to the teamsters' union wherein he said that government is determined to help labor unions clean house of those "few" persons who have betrayed them.

To that I would reply, "Listen to who's talking." The man who is determined to help labor clean house is himself the head of an organization that is infested with notorious grifters, racketeers, cheats and free-style enemies of every decent principle of the American people and of the liberties which Mr. Roosevelt was hired to uphold.

He is in league with the two most corrupt political mobs in the United States and with most of the second-string gangs of political corruptionists. His nomination in Chicago, so short a time ago that the reek of that occasion still obscures the wholesome stench of the yards, was accomplished under the political and social auspices of some of the very same gorillas whom he now purposes to remove from the ranks of labor with a capital L.

Mr. Roosevelt maintains in Washington and elsewhere in the country a horde of parasitic chiselers whose character and nominal or mock duties parallel those of the cooties in the seams of labor's shirt, and his administration, on the whole, is no cleaner than that of the American Federation of Labor. It is, in fact, much worse, being much bigger and more vital to the nation.

In general, the New Deal or social-democratic party is a Gutzum Borglum version of the American Federation of Labor—a fact which has been noted, incidentally, by Mr. Dan Tobin, the president of the teamsters, who was President Roosevelt's host on this occasion.

The leaders of the international unions derive their power from the leaders of the local unions, many, not "few," of whom are crooks and known to the international leaders as such. The question is whether to fight them and risk defeat for reelection at their hands or play ball with them and thus assume an obligation to connive at their exploitation of the rank and file and their defamation of the cause of labor.

Honest men, of whom it is a pleasure to say that Mr. Tobin is one, shut their eyes and hold their noses against corruption in their neighbor unions, lest the crooked leaders of the offensive neighbors kick up political trouble in a lazy and complacent little club of high salaried order statesmen.

Chief Stilp Explains Proposed Bike Court

Neenah—Police Chief Irving Stilp described the functions and operations of a proposed bicycle court in Neenah in a talk at the noon meeting of the Neenah Lions club Tuesday at the Valley Inn.

The chief also outlined his traffic plan, part of which now is in operation.

Rotary Speaker

Neenah — Donald Hruska, Neenah publisher and amateur archery enthusiast, will be the guest speaker at the Neenah Rotary club Thursday noon at the Valley Inn. Hruska will talk on archery.

In the big national body, the American Federation of Labor, just as in the national councils of President Roosevelt's party, thanks to their power to deliver the vote, crooks are treated kindly by men whose protestations of virtue and altruism become a miserable fake in such company. And President Roosevelt, as head of the social-democratic party and the co-operative colleague of political mobsters, is on no better ground than William Green of the A. F. of L., and certainly is not qualified to lecture any union on the need of cleaning house. Tobin's position in the A. F. of L. may be compared to that of Harold Ickes in the social-democratic party.

Joins to

WELCOME

the Class of 1944

to LAWRENCE

WITH doors swung wide to make way for your entrance into the active life of Lawrence College and the City of Appleton - we greet you and join in extending a hearty welcome.

We are confident that you, the class of 1944, are representative of America's best young men and women, sound of mind, strong of body, and free of spirit. You have come to Lawrence to learn - for you know that education is the foundation from which you drink the draught which gives strength to face the future, however dark it may seem, and confidence with which to assume your responsibilities as adults in the years ahead.

We are happy that you have sought out Lawrence above all other institutions to pursue this important course and we know that you are thoroughly aware, as we are, of Lawrence's leadership among liberal arts institutions.

As each new term arrives, we are proud to view the increasingly greater opportunities Lawrence offers because of its never-ending program of expansion covering all phases of the best in academic and recreational life which directly affects its students.

Likewise, we feel that Appleton has kept pace with the college along similar lines by continually improving its facilities for better living and enjoyment of community life and it looks forward, along with the college, to a future even greater than its splendid past. We are happy in the fact that Lawrence students through the years have always found much in Appleton's makeup worth partaking of and continuation of this practice is considered the highest compliment which can be paid in return.

In the same spirit we welcome the return of Lawrence upperclass students to the college and city now so familiar to them. We believe that our friendship has been an extremely worthwhile experience and we are accordingly happy for the privilege of renewing it.

A Message from John Goodland, Jr.

Mayor of the City of Appleton

"Appleton congratulates you on your choice of Lawrence College and we are always especially happy to offer our best wishes and extend a hearty welcome in behalf of the city to both the incoming class as well as the returning students of the upper classes. We know that you will find Appleton the type of city you will be proud to claim for your own."

A Message from Carleton E. Saecker

President of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce

"Lawrence College has gained a remarkably high ranking among the colleges of the nation and Appleton is both proud and happy that you have chosen Lawrence for the pursuit of your studies. We are confident that you will find Appleton an interesting and progressive city in keeping with the highest standards set by the college."

Today and Tomorrow

BY WALTER LIPPMANN

The Reasoned Courage of the British

The awe-inspiring courage of the British people could not be sustained if along with their brave hearts they did not also have clear heads. They fight on and they are determined to fight back not in the manner of men resisting blindly but as men who know the position, and the odds, and the real alternative. Only a great people could do this. The British are a great people. They have organized the largest security that the world has known since the Romans, and with all their mistakes they have extended more widely the area of law and order than it was ever before extended on earth. This great history is in them now, and now at last they are greatly led by a man who knows their history, and having the quality of greatness and being greatly led, their reason does not undermine but on the contrary strengthens the courage of their hearts. They see clearly. As long as they see clearly, they will not be intimidated or demoralized.

What they see so clearly is not only that if they resist they will eventually win but that if they do not resist, they are utterly and absolutely lost. They know that if they do not resist to the uttermost in the British Isles, and that, were they defeated there, if they do not resist in their empire, they will be disarmed and helpless, perhaps forever. So they resist at home, knowing that if ever they were conquered in the British Isles, their fleet and their air force and their commercial power in the outer world will continue to protect them against enslavement and destruction. The essence of their courage is the knowledge that Britain cannot be defeated in Britain alone, that the lot of the people of Britain can never be hopeless as long as the empire and the fleet remain in being.

British Resistance Is Only Hope for France

This is the great lesson taught by the tragic experience of France. The French people were poorly led in the crisis of June the men who came to power lost their heads as they lost their courage. They made the terrible mistake of thinking that they could ingratiate themselves with the victors by rendering themselves completely helpless. So they surrendered not merely France which was overrun but the empire, which was intact, and the fleet and the air force as well. They surrendered also their moral position by the unprecedented folly of hastening to fasten upon themselves the guilt for the war and to exonerate their conquerors. They were misled into believing that the more impotent they were, the better terms they would receive. No greater error was ever committed by an intelligent people. Had they followed the advice of General de Gaulle, continued their resistance from Africa and Asia Minor and on the seas, they would at the very least have had some power with which to negotiate with the Germans and Italians. But, instead, they threw in their hand before they had played it out. And since in the world as it is today there is no chivalry and no mercy, the more helpless they are, the worse they will be treated.

Indeed, what protects the French today from the same systematic destruction which has been visited upon the Poles is not Hitler's magnanimity toward Marshal Pétain or his admiration for M. Laval, but simply and solely the power of the British resistance. There can be few Frenchmen left who do not realize this. Certainly, Churchill realizes it and the great majority of the British people will realize it as long as they are nobly led. That is why the pledge they have taken not to surrender even if they are defeated in Britain, if not absolute, is a real and valid as any pledge can be that is made by mortal men. For whereas the Vichy Government in France is still protected by the British resistance, once Britain surrendered the empire and the fleet, because the British spirit was broken in London, there would be no outside power left to check the victors and to moderate their purposes. Freedom Depends on Control of the Seas The immediate question is whether Hitler can win the battle of Britain. But the greater question is whether, even if he did win it, his victory would be the decisive battle. If it were decisive, then there would fall with the British Isles that control of the seas by means of which free nations have for more than a century maintained their freedom. So the issue is immense, for it is no coincidence, but it is a profoundly significant truth, that the free nations of the world, the nations which have enjoyed and developed a regime of constitutional liberty, are established upon the shores of the ocean: the Scandinavians, the Dutch, the Belgians, the British, the French, and the Americans. In the interior of the Continent of Europe where it merges into Asia military power and not naval power is supreme; and in the landlocked interior, away from the liberating seas, constitutional government has not taken root and the new practice of liberty works feebly against the ancient habits of tyranny.

So the control of the seas by the free nations must not be yielded up if freedom itself is to survive. What ever happens on the Continent of Europe, the fleets which control the oceans must remain in being, must remain as the ultimate defense against the universal revolution, as the final counterpoise to the gigantic power of mechanized militarism.

Mrs. Herbert Dobbett Elected President Of Band Mothers

Weyauwega—At a meeting of the local Band Mothers organization Monday evening at the high school the following new officers were elected: President, Mrs. Herbert Dobbett; vice president, Mrs. Edward Marling; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Gilbert Whitney. Fall activities were resumed and the following committee was appointed for the membership drive: Mrs. Edward Kramer, Mrs. Harry Rasmussen and the Rev. A. E. Grosshuesch. A $10 donation was received from Hotel Dobbins and its manager, Thomas Carew. The organization will sponsor benefit parties to raise enough money to purchase 15 more new uniforms this year.

The first to elect officers at the local high school was the Weyauwega High school band. The officers are: President, Howard Holcombe; vice president, Ruth Whitney; secretary, Joan McCarthy; treasurer, Mavis Bartel, and student conductor, Betty Bauer. Miss Joan McCarthy is a senior at the local high school. Bonnie Lee was the name given to the new daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Prahl. Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Frost named their daughter Susan Jane.

Officials Urge Farmers of County to Test Soil Soon

Farmers are urged to plan their 1941 soil building program now by the county agricultural committee, which points out that farmers throughout the county have found that to get maximum results at a minimum cost, a soil improvement program has to be based on the soil needs as shown by test results.

County Agent J. F. Magnus reports that tests made on samples of Outagamie soils during the last two years showed that 30 per cent needed lime, 70 per cent needed phosphate and 40 per cent needed potash to grow satisfactory crops of grains and legumes.

Not all farms, or for that matter, not all fields on the same farm have the same soil needs according to these tests. The tests show that treatment is needed on each field sampled and tested.

Legume-grass crops, which are the basic crops in the crop rotation, are heavy feeders on lime, phosphate and potash, and so it is thought that best results can be expected from the use of lime and commercial fertilizer when applied prior to, or at the time, seedings are made.

Farmers throughout the county are taking samples of soil for testing so as to obtain samples representative of the top six to eight inches. A cupful of soil is regarded as plenty for testing.

Treatment Varies
When the soil in a field varies considerably, as shown by crop production or soil type, samples are taken from the different parts and kept separate because these different parts may require separate treatment for best results.

Agent Magnus reports that soil samples which are received at his office now can be tested promptly. Results of tests will include recommendations for lime and fertilizer treatments for the crops which are to be grown next year.

Under the agricultural conservation program for 1941, which recent announcements indicate will be similar to that of 1940, Outagamie county farmers who participate in the program will receive payments for carrying out approved soil building practices on their farms. Farmers who expect to participate in the 1941 conservation program can obtain lime and 45 per cent superphosphate without advancing any cash, according to county agricultural conservation officials. The cost of these materials will be deducted from the 1941 payments.

Those interested in obtaining these materials may place their orders at the county AAA office located on the second floor of the Appleton City library building.

Farmers May Get AAA Crop Loans

Loans on wheat, barley, rye and corn under the AAA program are available to all farmers, according to Joseph Garvey, chairman of the county agricultural conservation committee. The ever-normal granary commodity loans are made through the Commodity Credit corporation, a governmental agency.

Farmers who receive loans on any crop can store it for a specified period of time under seal in approved cribs or bins on their farms or in the case of wheat and rye in warehouses.

The loan program, it is explained, has two purposes: first, to relieve grain markets from being flooded during any one year, thereby protecting grain prices; and second, to build up reserves of food supplies to take care of any future emergency. This second purpose, it is thought, has taken on greater significance in view of the national defense program.

Farmers interested in loans on any of the four crops, wheat, barley, rye and corn, are being asked to see members or representatives of their county agricultural conservation committee. The loan rates on the various crops are as follows: Wheat, average loan rate of 64 cents a bushel; barley, amount varies depending on grade from 35 cents on No. 1 to 25 cents on No. 5 barley; rye, rate of 38 cents per bushel for No. 2 or better rye; and corn, rate of 57 cents in commercial corn counties; rate of 43 cents in non-commercial corn counties.

Grange hall for the Oshkosh Chamber of Commerce.

Since they plan to present a dramatic production soon, members of the G. F. C. 4-H club spent most of their meeting last Friday at Miss Naomi Schroeder's home, route 3, Appleton, looking over plays. The selection of a play and final arrangements for cast and rehearsals will take place at the next meeting, on Sept. 27 at the home of Norbert Techin, route 3.

Rotarians Hear Talk On Electrical Studies

H. D. Sanborn, a representative of the General Electric company, was the speaker at the noon meeting of the Appleton Rotary club yesterday in the Conway hotel. He talked on electrical research.

Cabbage Demonstration

A cabbage demonstration will be held at 1 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the Rudolph Lock farm east of Shiocton on Highway 54, according to J. F. Magnus, Outagamie county agent. R. E. Vaughn of the state university will talk.

'Remedies' for Bang's Disease Fail to Cure in Experiments

Many products are advertised and sold as remedies for Bang's disease, and farmers have spent thousands of dollars of their hard-earned money for them, but the department of agriculture says there is no scientific evidence that any drug, or chemical or medicine will prevent or cure this costly disease of cattle, according to a bulletin received by County Agent J. F. Magnus.

For this reason, congress provided money for testing some of the products advertised and sold as remedies for Bang's disease.

For these tests, the investigators selected two products widely used as remedies for Bang's disease. In testing these so-called remedies, the men used 97 heifers. They deliberately exposed these 97 heifers to Bang's disease. In addition, they gave more than half of the animals one or the other of the two "remedies," according to the directions of the manufacturers.

And here's what happened: Of the 97 heifers used in the tests, 94 of them lost their calves. That is, every heifer was exposed to Bang's disease, and remedy or no remedy, practically every heifer lost her calf!

A. B. Crawford of the bureau of animal industry says one reason many people get the idea a product is a remedy for Bang's is that the disease fools them.

Here's what often happens: Bang's disease breaks out in a herd. The farmer gets desperate. Maybe he buys some product he's seen or heard advertised as a cure for the disease. He gives it to the cows. The disease seems to die out. So he gives credit to the medicine. But, says Dr. Crawford, the disease is only following its natural course. The usual thing is for the disease to appear to die out a year or so after it strikes a herd. However, most of the cows still carry the disease, and will pass it on to any new animals brought into the herd and to the heifers.

So it isn't the "remedy" that apparently causes the disease to disappear. It's the natural course of the disease, remedy or no remedy.

Demonstrations on Weed Killing Will Be Given Next Week

Six demonstrations on methods of applying sodium chlorate to kill creeping jenny will be given next Tuesday, according to J. F. Magnus, Outagamie county agricultural agent. The county has appropriated up to $400 to pay half the cost of chemical up to 100 pounds of the chemical for killing the weed.

The demonstrations will be given at 8:30 Tuesday morning at the Henry Griesbach farm, a mile north of Greenville on Highway 76; 10:30 at the Mrs. John Knutzen place, Medina; 11:30 at Elwood Brewer's 12 miles southeast of New London on County Trunk S; 1:30 in the afternoon at the Milton Zuleger farm three miles north of Black Creek on Highway 47; 2:30 at the Ed Potter farm two miles west of Seymour on Highway 54; and 4

Guernsey Herd High Producer

Elmer Gosse Cows Show Month's Fat Average of 35 Pounds

Elmer Gosse's herd of Guernseys produced an average of 756 pounds of milk or 35 pounds of butterfat to lead production in the Black Creek-Cicero Dairy Herd Improvement association during the last month, according to William Yonkman, fieldman.

The Robert Miller Brown Swiss herd was second with an average of 34.5 pounds of butterfat. Third was the Herman Court Brown Swiss herd with 32.2 pounds, fourth the Oscar Kneisler Guernsey herd with 32 pounds, and fifth the George Stingle Brown Swiss and Guernsey herd with 30.6 pounds.

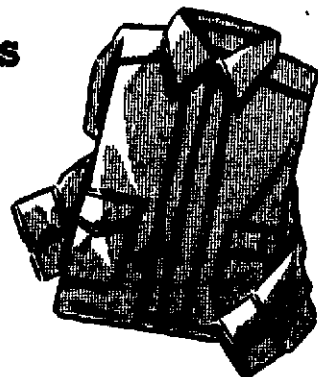

High cow, owned by Charles Wussow, produced 1,515 pounds of milk containing 75.5 pounds. Owners of other high producing cows and records are: Robert Mueller 66.3 pounds, George Blum 61 pounds, Herman Miller and Son 60.8 and 58.6 pounds and George Stingle 58.3 pounds.

O'clock at the Ed Sprangers farm two miles north of Little Chute at the junction of County Trunks N and J.

YOUR CONTRIBUTION TO THE Girl Scouts

"Appleton's Only Public Organization for Girls"

IS NEEDED NOW!

The institution of Girl Scouting deserves your support. The need for funds to carry out its excellent work is great — the amount you are to give is undetermined but the important thing that counts is that you join hands with the community at this time and contribute your share. The fact that it is the only public organization for girls in the city of Appleton increases its responsibility to widen the scope of opportunities for girl scouting and open its enrollment book to all interested girls of the city. Although present total enrollment is 459 including both troop and Brownie members and 166 girls were accommodated at Chalk Hills camp for a six week's period this summer and 141 girls attended the six week's day camp at Telulah Park, many other girls could not be accommodated because of lack of funds and limited budget. The council points with justifiable pride to both of its worthwhile camping projects and is determined to carry on and make it possible for all girls in the city to share these splendid opportunities. All that is needed is your financial help. If you are called upon personally, contribute cheerfully but better still, make your gift or pledge voluntarily by making use of the coupon shown here. Remember Girl Scouts and prospective girl scouts of Appleton are counting on you.

Velvety Suedes by FOOT SAVER

LAURETTE—Soft suede tie, stitched vamp, lizard trim.

CLARINDA—High-throated suede with contrasting stitching.

$11.75

Our Most Fitting Fashion ...

New costume fabrics are rich, deep piled—demand a corresponding richness in shoes. Foot Saver responds with "velvet texture" suedes—made over the famous and exclusive Shortback® Lasts to fit closely and comfortably as stockings. It's an illusion, of course, but this perfect Foot Saver fit seems to heighten your arch, foreshorten your foot.
